URGES HATCH ACT BE MADE TIGHTER

Insists That Republican Expenditures Be Kept Well Under Hatch Act

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

COLORADO SPRINGS, Aug. 8.—Wendell Willkie stood fast today on two of the most amazing collateral proposals ever made by a presidential candidate.

What Willkie proposed, in effect, was a super-Hatch Act which would:

1.—Force high officials of the federal government up to and including the president, to file statements of their personal assets with the secretary of state on taking and leaving office.

2.—Prevent members of the immediate families of such officials, including the president, from receiving compensation for any services performed for anybody in connection with the transactions of any department of the federal government.

Own Assets

In addition, Willkie promised that whether or not amendments of that nature were added to the Hatch Act, he would give the widest publicity to his own assets and those of members of his family if elected president and would file statements with the secretary of state.

"I am in favor of all amendments to the Hatch Act necessary to make it air-tight in carrying out both its provisions and its spirit," Willkie

Novel key rings, with miniature duplicates of auto license plates, for car owners, is indeed more of a convenience and not just a novelty. It serves as a reminder, for often, when asked for your license number, or when same is given in an effort to remove said car from a parking place as it blocks traffic, the numbers aren't even recognized or remembered by autoists.

City street department workers have nearly completed their work of repairing the damage done by the past winter's severe weather conditions on East Washington street. Except for a few patches in the down town districts, the work is finished in that section.

Pa Newc has noticed that some automobile owners are more trusting than others. Some securely, and wisely, lock their cars, while others, will leave their cars unlocked and with opened windows.

Numbers of enquiries have been received recently by Owen Fox, in regard to birds that have seemed to be plentiful in folks back yards in the past two months. From the description given, these birds are the wood thrush, more noticeable now, because of their light breast showing up their brown back feathers, as if they had been newly dusted with cinnamon. JAPANESE TRANSPORT MOVEMENT CONFIRMED

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 8. — American naval quarters have confirmed that 18 Japanese troop transports were sighted Tuesday moving southward from Formosa, the London Daily Express reported from Honk Kong today.

The report said 11 more troop ships later were seen steaming toward French Indo-China.

Unconfirmed Hong Kong reports said 100 Japanese vessels including transports and warships have been concentrated in the Gulf of Tonkin off Indo-China.

Nine Nazi Planes Downed By British

British Use Dive Planes To Set Fire To German Gasoline Depots

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 8.—At least nine German war planes fell victim to British guns today as intensive warfare was renewed over the English Channel and Britain for the first time announced successes for British-made "Stuka" dive-bombers.

The fighting resulted from what was officially described as a "small scale blitzkrieg test" by the Nazi air force.

Germans Attack

From early morning until well after noon, German planes attacked shipping, ports and convoys along the channel and the southeast coast. Latest unofficial reports said that fifty planes were engaged in one terrific dog-fight over a southeast inland town.

One Nazi bomber crashed in a field after unloading its cargo of incendiary bombs.

An official announcement said that at least six German bombers and three fighting planes were shot down in combat over the channel. Two British planes are missing.

Use of Britain's "Stukas"—counterparts of the destructive German planes which comprise the Reich's heavy artillery—was disclosed in an official announcement by the Admiralty.

Planes of this type attached to the fleet air arm attacked and pre-

Three Men And A Woman Injured When Plane Falls Near Newark Airport

(International News Service)

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 8.—Three men and an attractive blonde were in St. James hospital today with injuries suffered when their plane crashed near Newark airport on a flight from Williamsport, Pa.

One of the injured passengers, identified as W. R. Hopkins, 71, of New York, replied negatively when asked by a nurse whether he was the former city manager of Cleveland.

Hopkins and Theodore Nagel, 58, an engineer, had spent yesterday in Williamsport on business and chartered the plane of Mathew Seckinger, 31, to return to New York. Seckinger, it was stated, invited a friend Harried Neff, 21, along for the ride.

The plane crashed in the marshes about 30 yards from Newark airport. Seckinger crawled to a nearby New Jersey National Guard camp to summon help.

Italy And Britain Battle For Suez Life Line

What may prove one of the decisive campaigns of the war, the battle for the Suez canal, is on. Nearly 250,000 Fascist troops have been hurled into the drive for control of Britain's life line to India and the Far East. London claims victory in the first phase of desert warfare along the Libyan-Egyptian frontier, but warns that "some Italian successes" must be expected. Arrows indicate drives launched by Italy's legions.

NAVAL BATTLE IN MEDITERRANEAN SEA

(International News Service)

ROME, Aug. 8.—A heavy naval agreement has been raging for the last three days in the Mediterranean between Formentera in the Balearic Islands and Algiers, the newspaper Tribuna reported from Valencia, Spain, today.

Heavy cannonading has been heard at dawn for three days past, the report said.

SIX-ALARM FIRE AT PITTSBURGH DOES EXTENSIVE DAMAGE

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 8.—A six-alarm fire that resulted in $20,000 worth of damage raged for more than an hour early today through the planing mill, lumber storage and office building of the West Liberty Lumber Company on West Liberty avenue.

One hundred and fifty firemen from 15 companies fought the blaze. Two of them—Charles F. Beck and John F. Liston—were burned on the shoulders.

Truman Appears Senate Winner

Unofficial Lead Over Governor Stark For Missouri Senate Nomination 7,000

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 8.—Missouri's closest election contest in almost 20 years appeared to have been decided today with Senator Harry S. Truman the winner over Gov. Lloyd C. Stark in the race for Democratic nomination to the U. S. senate in Tuesday's primary.

Although the official tabulation may be needed to certify the result, practically complete unofficial returns today indicated that Truman defeated Gov. Stark by about 7,000 votes. The count from 4,407 of the state's 4,446 precincts gave: Truman 263,128, Stark 256,335.

Maurice M. Milligan, former U. S. district attorney, the third senatorial candidate, was about 100,000 votes behind the leaders.

It was considered unlikely the few scattered precincts yet to be counted would affect the totals enough to change the standings.

The Republican senatorial nomination was won by Marvel H. Davis of Kansas City. The Democratic gubernatorial nominee was St. Louis Excise Commissioner Lawrence McDaniel, and the Republican nominee for governor was Forrest C. Donnell, St. Louis attorney.

New Castle Fair To Close Friday Races Done Today

Saddle Horse Show And Boy Scout Review To Feature Friday Program

Attractions of the 1940 New Castle fair, regarded by veteran fair boosters as the best annual exhibition ever, this afternoon and tonight will lure a big attendance to the show grounds not far off the New Castle-Harlansburg road.

Expect Big Day

Yesterday's crowd was expected to be far outnumbered—today, most of the fair leaders indicated, was to be the "big day".

Last night's first night crowd saw 36 talented performers present a lively 27-act show—Klein's Revue, it's billed—out in front of the grandstand. The audience found the entertainment much to its liking and roared its approval time and again.

Tonight the same revue will be presented at 8:15. It will also be given Friday evening.

WPA Employes To Work For Defense

Those Working On Projects Or Who Are On Waiting List, Will Be Registered

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 8.—Every New Castle man on a WPA project or a WPA waiting list will shortly be listed on a uniform defense industries employment register to be set up by the Pennsylvania State WPA Administrator.

Orders have gone from Washington to the State Administrator to commence at once the compilation of this register.

A card will be prepared for each man on a WPA propect or a waiting list. It will disclose the skills at which he is proficient or for which he can be trained. It will show the trades and industries in which he has had experience, his special skill, machines operated, educational status, and general physical condition.

WPA Commissioner Harrington expects this register to be an important reservoir from which men can be drawn for employment in defense industries as demands upon those industries grow.

British Planes Open Offensive In Somaliland

Move To Check Advance Of Italians And Protect 'Life Line Of Empire'

ITALIANS CAPTURE THREE PORT TOWNS

By W. P. SPHIR
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CAIRO, Aug. 8.—Planes of the British royal air force took the offensive today in an effort to break up Italy's onslaught against "lifelines" of the empire.

One Port Taken

With the Italians already in control of one port on the gulf of Aden and 50 miles deep into British east African territory, the R. A. F. lashed out at Bardia, chief jumping off place for Italy's threat to Alexandria, Cairo and the Suez canal.

Direct hits on shipping in the harbor and storehouses were recorded. In addition, the R. A. F. bombed Italian submarine bases at Massawa, scoring a hit on one naval vessel at the quay and a submarine. One British flying boat engaged in reconnaissance at Tobruk was shot down.

Latest advices indicated the mechanized Italian troops were still hammering against bitter resistance in a three-pronged drive against Berbera, seaport capital of the British protectorate.

While fierce fighting progressed on the torrid desert, the British east African high command announced that the Italians, aided by tanks and strafing planes, occupied the ports of Zeilah, Hargeisa and Odweina early this week but at heavy cost in lives and material.

Zeilah on the Somaliland coast is about 100 miles northwest of Berbera and 75 miles southeast of the French Somliland seaport of Djibouti, now controlled by the Italians. Hargeisa is the most important inland community in British Somaliland.

Two Battalions Occupy Port

Two Italian battalions occupied the undefended port of Zeilah, it was authoritatively revealed. The British, it was said, could not afford to stretch their communications to meet the Italian attack.

It is now thought likely that the Italians will expand their operations in this manner:

1—A drive eastward along the Mediterranean toward Alexandria and Cairo, with the spearhead fanning out as it reaches the Nile delta.

2—Concerted drives from Eritrea and Ethiopia into the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan to smash Khartoum and the Nile communication centers.

3—Purely local engagements along the Kenya frontier to keep south African troops engaged until Egypt falls.

Shortage Of Equipment Sees Men Engaged In Mock War With Wooden Guns

(International News Service)

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 8.—All "warm-up practice" and preliminary drills completed, Pennsylvania's 14,000 national guardsmen today launched initial battalion maneuvers in the greatest of America's peace-time war games in upper New York state.

Over a wide area, willing but under-equipped citizen-soldiers from the Keystone state engaged in reinforced two-sided battalion engagements. From these maneuvers were to be evolved plans for defending the region against a mythical "attack" later this month

Problems Scheduled

Problems of attack and defense were scheduled for the 112th infantry, with headquarters at Kane; 111th, at Philadelphia; 110th, Southwest Pennsylvania, and the 109th, at Scranton. The battles saw "blue" armies defending strategic points against "black" groups.

Commanding officers said the problems will be reversed and slightly altered tomorrow when attacking and defending positions will be reversed. The infantry will have a rest over the week-end from intensive field activity, it was announced.

At least one Pennsylvania officer agreed with Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drumm's criticism of the national guard's inadequate equipment.

Lieut. Col. Fred H Kelley of Pottstown asserted the 111th infantry entered maneuvers with "no new

Senate Acrimony To Hurry Vote

May Pass Guard Mobilization Bill Today—Conscription Battle Continues

By ROBERT A. McGill
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Showing concern over the bitter debate that has accompanied vital sections of the defense program, senate administration leaders today moved to speed authorization to the president to mobilize the National Guard, and make way for action on the equally controversial military conscription bill.

Majority leader Barkley wants the senate to agree to start voting on amendments and the bill late today. Sen. Adams (D) Colo., foe of the legislation, blocked such a move yesterday.

Organize Fight

Opponents of the military conscription bill, which would make 12,000,000 men between 21 and 31 liable for a year's military training, met secretly in Sen. Norris' office and organized for their battle. Those attending included Sens. Johnson (D) Colo.; Nye (R) N. D.; Lafollette (P) Wis.; Wheeler (D) Mont.; Walsh (D) Mass., chairman of the senate naval affairs committee, and Norris (I-R) Neb.

Agreements were made for speaking time in the senate accompanying floor startegy. The opposition senators will base their arguments on the minority report of the senate military affairs committee, which said peacetime conscription is a "Hitlerized method" and that voluntary enlistment should be given "a fair trial."

Barkley called for additional limitation of debate on the legislation

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 8.—James A. Farley today resigned, effective August 31, as postmaster general of the United States.

In a letter accepting the resignation of the man who handled his two victorious campaigns, President Roosevelt said that Farley would be greatly missed.

No Political Mention

Farley's letter of resignation made no mention of future political plans. The retiring national chairman of the Democratic party took occasion, however, to cite the record of the postoffice department under his administration, its businesslike progress and the firm standing upon which it now rests.

Although Farley is giving up both the national chairmanship and his cabinet post, he is retaining the Democratic state chairmanship and will direct the campaign to keep the big New York electoral vote in the Democratic column this fall.

Farley told the president today that he had made definite arrangements for his future in private business. That future is expected to include not only the leadership of the

Suspect Sabotage In Plane Mystery

(International News Service)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 8.—Mystery today surrounded the circumstances under which Miss Rosemary Griffith, 24, stewardess of the American Airlines' Flagship, Tennessee, was found unconscious in the plane last night half an hour before it landed in Nashville on a flight from Washington, D. C.

The girl was in St. Thomas hospital, where it was stated an X-ray of her stomach revealed that she had swallowed the key to the airliner's mail compartment.

Although no official would be quoted directly on the possibility, it was indicated the investigators were trying to learn whether Miss Griffith swallowed the mail compartment key in an effort to protect the mails.

Found Unconscious

Pending questioning of the stewardess, authorities appeared uncertain what had occurred. She was found unconscious in the rear of the ship, near the mail compartment, at about 8:30 p. m. The transport landed at Nashville at 9:05 p. m. Miss Griffith's face was scratched, and her stockings were torn. Authorities said she was known to have been ill, and the investigation centered around whether

Germans Launch "Pin Prick" Attacks

Attacks Renewed On Channel Ships

British Believe Ruhr District Evacuated Because Of Heavy Shelling Of Towns

NAZIS SCORE HIT IN CHILDREN'S HOME

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 8. — Aerial warfare was resumed over the English channel today as German bombers again launched "pin-pricking" attacks against the British Isles.

An official air ministry announcement said that a number of engagements between British and German planes took place over the channel during renewed attacks on British shipping.

Two Bombers Down

Two German bombers were known to have been shot down while a number of others were reported hit and may have been destroyed.

Several localities in Britain were bombed. One woman was killed by splinters from an exploding missile but casualties otherwise were believed few. Meanwhile, British authorities expressed confidence that Royal Air Force raids on German objectives are having a deadly effect.

Late this morning a lone German raider dropped six bombs on a southeastern English village but caused only minor damage. Another raider dropped a single bomb on a northeastern district, but caused no damage at all, it was reported.

Loads of bombs dropped on Britain during the night caused little serious destruction and relatively few casualties, it was indicated.

In London, authorized Royal Air Force circles said they considered it "highly likely" that German authorities are evacuating or have evacuated civilians from the Ruhr as a result of repeated hard-hitting British raids on that region, particularly the areas around Duisberg, Mulheim, Werder and Essen as well as Gelsenkirchen Bottrup and Dortmund.

But they considered abondonment of Ruhr industrial establishments by the Germans as highly improbable since each successive British raid has revealed intensive German efforts to repair damages to plants caused by previous attacks.

Morale Affected

These British circles expressed belief that if evacuation of civilians from the Ruhr has not yet been completed it probably is now under way "because of the effect upon morale of constant successes by night raiders, if not for other reasons."

Only part of the Krupp armaments works is still operating, it was claimed, while the remainder has been "destroyed beyond repair."

An official announcement this morning said that bombs were dropped on various sections of Britain during the night, but that apart from broken windows little damage was reported except in one northeastern English town. There a sanatorium, a shop and other property "suffered considerably," it was stated.

Only a few casualties resulted from the raids, according to the announcement, which said the most serious injuries were sustained by several women walking on a country road.

The damaged sanatorium houses 300 children from poor industrial areas. All remained in their beds, although the bombs shattered every window and door of every building in the area.

One bomb just missed directly hitting a nurses' home behind the sanatorium.

As soon as the raiders appeared, the nurses rushed to calm the children. Later they said:

"The children all wondered about the excitement but behaved calmly, stayed in bed and went back to sleep.

It is Mr. Fox's belief that if these birds are given the proper attention, they may become quite numerous in our summer gardens, due to the fact that these gardens are furnishing them the insect food they cannot obtain in the woods.

This is the time of the year when fall grass or crab grass begins to make its appearance, and folks who take pride in their lawns can take steps to eradicate it at this time. Where lawns are burned brown by the summer's heat, the crabgrass will look nice and green. It should be pulled out and in a few more weeks grass should be sowed on these spots. This will prevent the crab grass from throwing down its seeds for next year.

About six weeks ago, everyone was complaining about the excess of rainfall, and now conditions have turned just the opposite. A good soaking rain is badly needed for crops which have not yet been harvested. It would be worth thousands of dollars.

He went into the telephone building and was amazed when he won a ticket giving him the right to call free any person in the U. S. He tried to reach his father, Al Sr., here but the latter was in Erie on business so Al Jr., telephoned Tony Sacco. The 14 year old lad is with his mother and sister on a vacation trip throughout the east.

Most interesting to note is the fact that persons who are in professional and business enterprises, who are usually and customarily immaculate in their appearance, arrive home from their annual vacation period with a slightly different aspect. The face and entire skin is "peeling" from exposure to the sun in various vacation lights and their hair is usually untidy, also, from exposure to the water and sun.

NEW CASTLE FAIR TO CLOSE FRIDAY RACES DONE TODAY

attractions this year, was having its final inning today. At 1 this afternoon the last races were to start.

Saddle Horse Show

A saddle horse show and a mammoth Boy Scout pageant Friday afternoon will take the place of racing.

Judges released their first report on winning exhibits in the household arts, household science and 4-H girls classifications. The News of Friday evening will carry those results.

Stock judging took place yesterday, according to Secretary-Manager A. C. Shoaf, but the decisions of the judges are not to be announced and will not be ready for publication for a day or so.

As the hours passed today, the mid-way of the fair grew busier. On the mid-way is the Lawrence Greater Shows, a carnival offering all sorts of sideshows and rides.

The old rain tradition which long dogged the local fairs seems to have fallen this year, for sunshine has showered the busy acres since the opening of the four-day show Tuesday at noon.

Finishes Friday

The fair continues tonight, all day Friday and late into Friday evening, and hopes of the fair management are that the weatherman will remain as kind as he has been.

Friday, Secretary Shoaf believs, will also draw a record crowd.

Tomorrow will bring one of the finest horse shows ever seen here and a huge Boy Scout demonstration with 1,000 participants. The scout exhibition, like the horse show, will be staged in front of the grandstand.

Today the fair office announced the formal "list of classes" for the Friday afternoon horse show which starts at 1, eastern standard time:

Model three and five gaited horses to be judged separate—Ribbon.

Three gaited 15-2 and under—$15-10 and 5, ribbon.

Ponies under 48 inches—$5-3 and 2, ribbon.

Five gaited, open—$15-10 and 5, ribbon.

Junior fine harness—$15-10 and 5, ribbon.

Three gaited, over $15-2—$15-10 and 5, ribbon.

Pleasure horse—$6-4 and 2, ribbon.

Junior five gaited—$15-10 and 5, ribbon.

Three gaited combination—$15-10 and 5, ribbon.

Ponies over 48 inches—$5-3 and 2, ribbon.

Ladies five gaited—$15-10 and 5, ribbon.

Open fine harness—$15-10 and 5, ribbon.

Ladies three gaited class—$15-10 and 5, ribbon.

Plantation class—$15-10 and 5, ribbon.

Five gaited combination—$15-10 and 5, ribbon.

Champion class ribbon horses to be judged on points—Ribbon.

Deaths of the Day

Haus Funeral.

Funeral services for Charles Haus, Lawrence county home, were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the Joseph B. Leyde mortuary, Highland at Winter, with Rev. J. Albert Tinker, pastor of the Maitland Memorial Primitive Methodist church, in charge.

Pallbearers were Charles Stritmater, Jacob F. Genkinger, Herman Seigle, David Pyle, George Forrest and Ira Rhodes.

Interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Pankratz Arrangements

The family of Mrs. Matilda W. Pankratz will be at Joseph B. Leyde mortuary, Highland at Winter, this evening from 7 until 9 o'clock to meet friends. Miss Thelma Pankratz, who was vacationing in California at the time of her mother's death, arrived in New Castle this morning.

On Friday morning the body will be taken to the home, 1006 Winslow avenue, where funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. A. M. Stump, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, in charge.

Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Salvatore Dalu

Salvatore Dalu, aged 62, of Hillsville passed away this morning at 7:30 o'clock in the New Castle hospital following a lingering illness.

Mr. Dalu was born in Italy in 1878. He had resided in Hillsville for the past 32 years and prior to his illness had served as a laborer for the Union Limestone company. He was preceded in death by his wife 18 years ago.

The body has been removed to the Capitola funeral home, East North street, where friends may call any time on Friday. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Mrs. Ross Funeral Time

Funeral services for Mrs. Viola Ross, 129 Center street, will be held Saturday morning at 10:15 o'clock from St. Vitus church. Interment will be made in St. Vitus cemetery.

German raids on Britain were reported from various localities. In one attack on Scotland, an improvised hospital was damaged when a bomb landed in the front yard. Twenty patients narrowly escaped injury from flying glass.

Germans Claim Hits

BERLIN, Aug. 8.— Sinking of three armied British merchant ships and bombing attacks against armament plants and other objectives in the British Isles were announced by the German high command today.

A war communique stated:

"One of our submarines sank three armed enemy merchant vessels totalling more than 16,000 tons.

"Last night German planes laid mines off several British ports and bombed armament plants as well as anti-aircraft and searchlight positions.

"The air force bombed the Leyland Motor Works, the Vickers-Armstrong Motor Works near Chester, an aircraft plant, industrial plants near Plymouth and anti-aircraft gun and searchlight positions at Manchester, Cardiff, Dorchester and Plymouth.

"Enemy planes flew over northern and western Germany during the night but their bombs caused no essential damage.

Apartment houses were damaged in the Essen suburbs as well as near Datteln. The resulting fires were extinguished quickly.

"One barn was burned down and two enemy planes were shot down."

"Whatever success I may have had in the conduct of the affairs of the postal service is due in a large measure to the splendid assistance and co-operation which I have received not only from my associates in the department here in Washington, but also from postmasters and postal employees in every branch of the service throughout the country.

MARINE-MINDED MARTINS

Two industrious and marine-minded martins did their best to set up housekeeping in the whistle of the ferry at Islesboro, Me. But every time the boat whistle tooted, the blast wrecked their fragile "home." The crew finally persuaded the pair to build the lovenest on a dock near the ferry slip.

WOULD PROHIBIT EXECUTIVE FAMILY FROM TAKING FEES

told a press conference and then launched into his double-barrelled proposal.

One reporter whistled as the proposal was made and the candidate grinned, obviously enjoying the effect.

The Hatch Act has been one of Willkie's pet themes and he did not appear to enjoy the publicity given Henry P. Fletcher's interpretation of its terms which, if followed, would have permitted the raising of a campaign fund, practically unlimited.

Hasn't Read Opinion

His first reaction was to announce that he had not read the opinion given by Fletcher, who is counsel for the Republican national committee, but that it was his intent to keep campaign expenditures within $2,500,000. The Hatch Act limit is $3,000,000.

Although Willkie inferentially disclaimed the Fletcher opinion it was immediately attacked by Attorney General Robert Jackson, who suggested that the Republicans were seeking to defeat its purpose through seeking out loop-holes.

Willkie had no comment on that but his new proposal—that he is all for making the act air-tight—apparently in his answer.

The idea of an accounting seems to have been lurking in his mind in nebulous form for some time. At Philadelphia, before his nomination, he was invited to appear before the Texas delegation and one delegate asked him frankly and flatly about his assets. Willkie promptly retorted that he would be willing to lay a financial statement against one made by President Roosevelt.

Refused Increase

He also told his questioner that he was paid $75,000 a year as the president of Commonwealth and Southern Corporation and had twice refused salary increases because he didn't believe any man in private industry should get more than the president of the United States.

After disposing of his proposal for amendments to the Hatch Act, Willkie announced more new business—that meetings with former President Herbert Hoover and Alf M. Landon, the 1936 Republican nominee, would definitely take place next week.

SUSPECT SABOTAGE IN PLANE MYSTERY

she had fallen or had been injured in some other manner.

A report that Federal Bureau of Investigation agents were interested in the case was neither confirmed nor denied, but local authorities admitted their inquiry was not overlooking the possibility of sabotage. A preliminary study of the plane indicated the mail compartment had not been tampered with.

Fourteen passengers, three women and eleven men, were aboard the Flagship when it landed. All were questioned closely by postal authorities, but after about three hours were permited to continue their flight westward aboard another plane.

Inspect Plane

The Tennessee was held for careful inspection. It was being canvassed for fingerprints and was given a thorough search.

Absence of the stewardess during last night's flight was discovered when passengers complained of the heat. A co-pilot went through the ship to adjust the thermostat, and it was then Miss Griffith's unconscious form was found. She was lying near the open door of the mail compartment.

All investigators refused to discuss the case in detail until Miss Griffith had recovered sufficiently to explain what happened.

The Tennessee was on a regularly scheduled flight from New York to the Pacific coast, and had stopped at Washington before coming on to Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 8.—Miss Rosemary Griffin, 24-year-old stewardess who was found unconscious aboard the American Airlines flagship Tennessee, near Nashville last night, recovered consciousness this morning but authorities refused to permit anyone to speak to her.

They also declined to say whether or not she had as yet made any statement as to what had happened, but it was reported that agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation planned to question her during the day.

The girl was found unconscious about 8:30 p. m. in the rear of the plane, near the mail compartment, as the air liner winged its way toward Nashville from Washington. Immediately upon landing of the plane at Nashville at 9:05 p. m. the girl was rushed to St. Thomas hospital where X-rays revealed she had swallowed the key to the mail compartment.

Miss Griffin was born in 1915 in Pittsburgh, and lived there until 1917, when her parents moved east.

SONS OF SKILLED MECHANICS MAKE BEST STUDENTS

(International News Service)

CLINTON, N. Y.—Why do sons of skilled mechanics make the best students?

Hamilton College didn't realize that they did until completion of a recent survey, and now it would like to know why.

The figures as compiled by President W. H. Cowley during a study of college admissions policy showed that 80.5% of the sons of skilled mechanics do acceptable work as compared with an average of 70.8 per cent for all students.

Next best are the sons of government or social workers, 75.8 percent; the sons of lawyers, 74.4; and the sons of educators, 73.4.

Other findings indicated sons of business men do better scholistically than sons of physicians, and some of laborers better than sons of farmers.

WILL DEDICATE INDIAN VILLAGE MARKER TONIGHT

Historical Commission, who will come here this afternoon, from Harrisburg, for the occasion. "Conserving Pennsylvania's Historic Past", will be the subject of Mr. Stevens' address.

An impressive flag ceremony is being planned in conjunction with the unveiling ceremony.

Members of the planning committee today announced the following program for the ceremony tonight:

Invocation.

Introduction of Speaker—Mrs. Wyatt R. Campbell, D. A. R. Regent.

Address—Sylvester K. Stevens.

Unveiling of Monument.

Salute to the flag—Mrs. Ray Biddle, president, Edenburg Women's club.

Announcements.

Benediction.

"Taps".

The actual unveiling will be done by: Miss Florence Nicholls, Miss Alice Irene Hoover, Miss Janet Carol McQueen, Miss Marion Kuhn, Miss Shirley May Beight and Miss Ruth Katharine Roberts.

On display at the scene will be original Indian relics, found in the vicinity of the Indian village. In order to help defray some of the expenses of the monument, some of the relics will be offered to the general public at a nominal sum.

WALLACE-HOPKINS CONFER WITH FDR

planned to sit at their ease on the spacious porth of Hyde Park house and debate methods of bringing victory to the Democratic ticket again.

Edward J. Flynn, who will take over the Democratic National chairmanship from James A. Farley on August 17, was not to be present. Flynn was in Washington conferring with other new deal leaders on the manner in which he will manage the Roosevelt-Wallace campaign.

An immediate decision to be made related to the date of the Wallace's formal acceptance of the vice-presidential nomination. Observers believe he would wait until August 28 or 29 because Willkie's Elwood, Ind., ceremonies fall on August 17 and Senator Charles L. McNary, of Oregon, accepts the G. O. P. vice presidential nomination on August 27. By waiting, Wallace would be able to answer both.

Personal Tour

Also it was believed there would be some discussion of the extent of President Roosevelt's personal campaigning. In his acceptance speech the night he accepted the unprecented third term nomination the chief executive said press of international affairs and national defense would force him to confine his campaign utterances largely to the radio and his press conferences.

In recent days, however, there has been a growing demand among Democrats that Mr. Roosevelt get out actively on the road. He has announced a series of inspection trips taking in key army and navy bases and plants but if his first one through the Norfolk, Va. area was a criterion they will be non-political to the extent he makes no speeches. In 1936 on flood control and drought area inspection trips Mr. Roosevelt made frequent speeches in addition to greeting large crowds.

Now it's so mixed up we can't tell whether it's a revolution or a counter-revolution or the suppression of a counter-revolution.

Plan Surprise For Motorists

Mayor Charles B. Mayne and Police Chief W. G. McMullen today warned that future violations of the Neshannock avenue parking ordinance will result in arrest of autoists. Neshannock avenue to North street is a one way lane yet motorists have been regularly breaking the law.

"For four days police took the license numbers of the cars," the chief stated. "We know the owners of all the cars. Apparently they imagine they have a private parking field. In the future the motorist who parks there should not ask leniency, he will be fined."

MRS. LOUIS MORGAN HONORED BY LODGE

Mrs. Louis Morgan, who is leaving next week to make her home in McKeesport, was pleasantly surprised by members of the American Home Watchmen, No. 45, when they presented her with a lovely gift at their picnic at Cascade Park on Wednesday. Mrs. Morgan is a charter member of the organization and her entire family are members.

About 75 attended the event and were served a delicious picnic supper at 6:30 o'clock. During the afternoon and evening hours, races for children, young women, boys, and also, for "fat" ladies, were run. Cards and games were also featured, prizes being awarded to the many winners.

Those on the committee in charge of the affair included Mrs. Ida Kuder, Mrs. Ruth Cook, Mrs. Hazel Kelly, Mrs. Blanche Lewis and Mrs. Mary Osler.

Next regular meeting of the American Home Watchmen will be held August 20 in McGoun hall.

BETTY JANE REIBER'S TO WED J. W. PATTIN

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reiber, of Moody avenue, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Betty Jane, to John W. Patton, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Patton, Sr., of North Mercer street.

No date has as yet been set for the wedding.

Sontag Reunion

The annual Sontag reunion will be held Saturday, August 10, at the Millburn Grange Hall, with dinner being served at 12 o'clock.

LOCAL WOMEN WILL ATTEND CONVENTION

Mrs. J. B. Daugherty of Walnut street, Mrs. Blanche Lewis of Butz street, Mrs. George Ray of Fulkerson street, Mrs. Henrietta Davis of West Washington street and Mrs. E. B. Ray of Hillcrest avenue, are among the New Castleites who plan on leaving here Sunday, to attend the convention sessions at the Du Pont Hotel in Wilmington, Delaware, for the Orange Lodge, L. L. O. I. organizations.

State activities will last throughout Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and National procedures will convene on Thursday.

The group plans on attending the New York World's Fair at the close of the convention, prior to heading back to New Castle, it is learned. However, Mrs. E. B. Ray will continue on to Bridgeport, Conn., to visit before returning here. Mrs. Chauncy Davis and Mrs. George Ray will leave via motor Sunday, and they will visit in Boston before making the trip homeward.

W. B. A. REVIEW 98 PLANS FOR PICNIC

W. B. A. Review No. 98, held their regular meeting Wednesday evening in the Dames of Malta Hall, with Miss Jessie Harper, in charge. Plans were formulated for a Review picnic event, to be held on September 9, at Cascade Park, with all members and Juniors being invited to participate.

The next regular assemblage, is scheduled for August 21 at the regular place.

COURT STREET UNIT GATHERS AT CASCADE

Court Street Unit members of Epworth Methodist church, gathered at Cascade Park Wednesday afternoon, at 1 o'clock, where they enjoyed a tureen dinner, in the lovely picnic grove. Mrs. Ray Bishop, president, was in charge of the occasion, and she was ably assisted with festivities by Mrs. J. P. Dunkerly and Mrs. Charles Andrews.

An appetizing menu was enjoyed at the sheltered tables, which were nicely appointed. Places marked for all members, and four special guests. They were Mrs. John Knox, Mrs. C. G. Miller, Mrs. Clifford Bishop and Mrs. Robert Gibson. The latter, from Grove City, was a former associate of the Unit.

During the business period, Mrs. Ray Bishop named on a special committee, Mrs. C. H. Andrews, Mrs. Clyde McCready, Sr., and Mrs. Henry McEwen.

The next regular meeting will take place in September, the date to be announced.

PASSING OF DR. COOK

THE present generation knew Dr. Frederick Cook only by name as a rather legendary character, but the men and women of another age, who read breathlessly of his assorted adventures, regarded him in a different light. He was by turn a hero and a reluctant principal in a criminal court.

He was lauded as the discoverer, in 1909, of the North Pole and he lived long enough to be ridiculed, jeered and finally ignored when experts gave Admiral Perry the credit of being the first to reach the top of the earth. He knew what it was to be accorded a hero's welcome and he also knew what it was to live within a jail, for, among his other exploits, he was convicted of selling worthless oil stock.

But this much may be said of Dr. Cook, that if he had his weak spots, he also possessed strength and courage in abundant quantities. As long ago as 1904 he scaled Mount McKinley in Alaska after failing in a previous attempt, and whether he actually found the North Pole or not is beyond the question of a man's nobility of purpose. It takes a certain amount of courage to even venture into the Arctic regions, and if Dr. Cook did not actually find the pole he came pretty close to it.

The members of another generation came to speak of Dr. Cook in certain terms of derision and to link his name with projects which the present generation would call phony. But if the worthwhile characteristics were plumbed, it would be found that Dr. Cook was a very likeable chap, a man of considerable intelligence with a flair for the dangerous things in life.

His record of achievement is by no means a stain on the American escutcheon; it is, if anything, a tribute to a man's heroic endeavor and to his pioneering qualities. He was simply a victim of a bad break in life. At a time when his name had all but been forgotten, death closed the book forever.

HOGWASH

In this hysterical hour there is an occasional offering of hogwash which is haywire enough to be classed as real humor. Such an instance is the hope in Spain now publicized wherein that country hopes to reclaim the Philippines and eventually Mexico, including Texas and California.

Details as to the date and place of Spain's descent upon the United States are lacking but it is to be presumed that Spain expects Hitler to hand the job over to Spain with a German guaranty to see the Dons though with their task. That is to say, keeping the idea to its crazy pattern, Hitler, in distributing the world among his friends, will say to Spain: "The United States took them away from you. Go get them back."

As there is no law against an indulgence in that form of insanity known as nightmares, any one who wants to put on a panic for his imagination can spread himself to the limit here. He can have Kansas and Oklahoma returned to France on the ground that Napoleon was gypped by Jefferson in that Louisiana deal.

THE STAR SPANGLED A-CHOO!

The president of the Hay Fever Sufferer's' Sdciety of America, one Michael Dorfman, has announced a campaign against people who say "gesundheit" when hay fever victims sneeze. Says Mr. Dorfman: "If they have to say anything, let them say 'God Bless America.' "

The head of this unique organization thinks that it is un-American to wish a person well in the German tongue, and as the official representative of his group, expresses the opinion that his fellow-sufferers are getting sick and tired of having people say "gesundheit" every time they sneeze.

If non-sufferers of hay fever believe that Mr. Dorfman is straining at gnats in sneezing exhortations, let them consider the state of mind of these unfortunates when the hay fever season is at its height. A person who suffers from hay fever experiences tortures beyond description, and since there is hardly any permanent cure for it, these persons are faced with the dismal future of going through the remainder of their lives in a perpetual state of sneezing. For them life is not a bowl of cherries but a constant flight from the pollen of obnoxious plants, from innocent dust, from ever the feathers in their pillows at home.

And it is easy to imagine that it must get a little boring to have one well-wisher after another use the traditional German salutation when a person sneezes. If Mr. Dorfman wants people to use the words of the song written by Irving Berlin and popularized by Kate Smith, he is entitled to some consideration. It is little enough to offer to a set of people whose lives during the summer become almost unendurable.

When somebody wrote that "Life begins at forty" the reference was to age and not to waistline.

At least Japan, in event of war, will not now be able to fire back at this country America's own cookstoves and tractors.

One of the mysteries of the Monroe Doctrine will always be that it should be most bitterly opposed by those it was designed to benefit.

Every once in a while a man attempting to play both ends against the middle finds there is no middle. It has just happened to King Carol of Rumania.

Democracy may be gone from France forever, but Americans, so long as they can remember Lafayette and Bartholdi's Statue of Liberty, will refuse to believe it.

Bible Thought For Today

Hints On Etiquette

It is not good manners, nor does it show good taste, to do "jitterbug" steps on a crowded dance floor. It smacks of exhibitionism.

Hitler is inconsistent in almost everything. He pretends to see no value in liberty, but you'll notice he never married.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

KEEP PICNICS WITHIN BOUNDS

August is the month for many church, clan and Sunday school picnics. These picnics for city or country children and parents afford good social recreation. They also have hazards for many children.

If groups of children are taken by a bus or truck you will want to be sure the vehicle is safe and the driver dependable. If there is a swimming place it should be strictly supervised with adequate lifeguards on hand. Even pools and brooks may be perilous to the tots. Unfortunately adequate supervision for safety at the picnic is not always provided. Make sure about it. Help organize safety guards if there are none. Failing in this, hold yourself strictly vigilant and responsible for the safety of your own children.

There are character hazards. When children go to a park or a country place they need to be so supervised that they will not destroy flowers, shrubs and trees nor injure fruit trees and crops or break down fences. Those responsible for the picnic need the cooperation of the parents.

Tidy Up After Lunch

When families or groups of families go on picnics, whether in a park or by the roadside, some are tempted to leave paper, cardboard and other food containers strewn about. We parents owe it not only to our fellow citizens, but more especially to our children, to teach these children to help tidy up the place after we have eaten a picnic lunch. Nor can we afford to have anyone throw fruit peelings, paper or anything else from the car windows as we drive along, not even the wrapper from a stick of gum.

As one observes a family of growing children with their parents at a picnic one can tell pretty accurately the kind of relationship in that family—the degree to which the children have been controlled at home in their earlier years, to which they have shared in responsibilities in the family, and how agreeably they all get along together.

In recent years I have attended picnics where I have seen fine samples of understanding by parents of growing children and very enjoyable and delightful family comradeship. As I exercise my memory over a space of twenty or more years it seems to me I am having the privilege of observing an increasing number of families in all sorts of places in which these fine relationships prevail.

Whereas you and I may see at the beach, park or other recreation places some unreasonable misunderstanding and treatment by parents of young children, we also observe many families whose relationships are lovely. Scenes like the latter hearten and reassure us and give up renewal faith in the family of tomorrow.

By writing me at 235 E. 45th St., New York City, N. Y., enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, you may receive without cost a selected list of books on guiding and understanding babies, children and youths and living happily in the family.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

INSPIRATIONS.

Shakespeare incorporated a great many war stories in his Plays; particularly, the Henry Plays and the Play of Richard II. They are all great English tragedies and some of them a little French, like Henry VI. Here is an extract from Henry VI:

Gloucester:
Is Paris lost? Is Rouen yielded up? . . .
Exeter:
How were they lost? what treachery was us'd?
Messenger:
No treachery, but want of men and money;
Among the soldiers, this is muttered—
That here you maintain several factions,
And whilst a field should be dispatch'd and fought,
You are disputing of your generals.
One would have ling'ring wars, with little cost;
Another would fly swift, but wanteth wings;
A third man thinks, without expense at all,
By guileful fair words, peace may be obtain'd.
Awake, awake, English nobility!
True in the time of Gloucester; true today.

Shelley in his Essay "Defense of Poetry" said: "Poets are the hierophants of an unapprehended inspiration; the mirrors of the gigantic shadows which the Future casts upon the Present; the words which express what they understand not; the trumpets which sing to battle and feel not what they inspire; the influence which is moved not but moves."

It was nearly one hundred years ago that Tennyson wrote "Locksley Hall", and with uncanny vision, he closes his poem with these lines:

For I dipt into the future, far as human eye could see,
Saw the Vision of the world, and all the wonder that would be;

Saw the heavens fill with commerce, argosies of magic sails,
Pilots of the purple twilight, dropping down with costly bales;

Heard the heavens fill with shouting, and there rained a ghastly dew
From the nations' airy navies grappling in the central blue.

Once more, and how long ago, it is very hard to determine, but many centuries ago, Omar Khayyam wrote in his "Rubaiyat" that which seem-

"You should have been here half an hour ago," he reproved.

The clerk accepted the remark in silence. A few minutes later he whispered to another clerk.

"Say, what happened around here half an hour ago?"

Right now there are more telephones in this country than there ever were before. Of course there is also more talk than ever.

NATURALLY

We talked with a chap who had just returned from Europe. We thought we would nip him on one question, so we asked it in our best manner.

"You saw the Statue of Liberty as you came in, of course," we said. "And which hand did the statue have over its head?"

"The hand with the torch in it, of course," was the answer we got.

To make footprints on the sands of time, the easiest way is to step into the concrete while it is yet impressionable.

We know of a lot of money that will go into circulation if Willkie is elected president of the United States. It will be money that will do some good.

NO GOOD

In the taxi strike, the absence of cabs has served as an alibi for a number of chaps.

One of them came home the other morning at 4 and found the house locked up tight. He hammered away and finally his wife came to a window.

"Fine time for you to be coming in," she said. "Where have you been?"

"A bunch of us were holding a conference and missed the last car," he said. "We were going to get a taxi, but we found they were on strike."

Down came the window.

"Go back and talk with those fellows about the lock-out," came a muffled voice through the glass.

They say you can judge the value of a thing by the cost, but it seems doubtful when you see a drunk paying the price next morning.

Two gentlemen were discussing the weather and their health.

"Jim, I hate to admit it, but I got a little stiff in the joints last night," remarked one.

"I've heard that people do," commiserated the other. "But I didn't know you went around to the joints much."

Congressmen are now being guarded just as carefully as the president by secret service men. Wouldn't it be fierce to be expected to be plinked any time without notice?

Good Taste

Pat. U. S. Patent Office

A schoolmate with whom I spent last night has become a precisionist to the extent that she is alienating her husband's interest in her. He is a radio fan but whenever he tunes in on a station she jumps up and turns the various gadgets a hairbreadth this way or that in the belief that her superior acuteness of hearing will improve the volume or the clearness. Similarly, when we were out in their car, she was reaching across him to readjust the various dashboard controls. If he raised a window sash or window shade in the house she would jump up and change its position by an inch or less. When he turned on all three bulbs in the bridge lamp she jumped up and extinguished one. I could not call her a nagger because she never uttered a word of criticism. She simply acted as a supervisor checking closely on his every act.

Such self-appointed efficiency experts keep their victims in a state of jitters resulting in accidents that would not occur in the presence of normal companions.

Readers' Questions Answered

Question: What is the correct manner of handling a bouillon cup with two handles? Should one lift the cup with one hand or with two; or it is incorrect to lift it at all? Should the bouillon be eaten entirely with te spoon?—G. G. N.

Answer: Bouillon may be eaten with a spoon or drunk from the cup described, using the right hand (but never both hands) to lift the cup. It is customary to take spoonfuls to the mouth until the broth is cool enough to drink.

It would be rather unfair to cause the other diners to wait while you sip spoonfuls; whereas, you might very readily and correctly drink from the cup. But this, of course, is permissible only when the bouillon is served in cups with handles. And, by the way, keep your elbow clear of the table while holding your bouillon cup to your mouth.

THE REASON

We visited a friend the other evening and during the course of the visit he paid his wife one of the finest tributes we have heard a man give.

After we had chatted for a while he asked his son:

"Where's mother?"

"Upstairs," replied the boy.

About 10 minutes alter he repeated the question and got the same answer. Five minutes later this happened again.

"Gosh, Bill, it looks like you can't get along without her for five minutes," we remarked.

"Correct," he said. "That's why I married her."

Over 1,400 deaths were caused in the United States in one week, by the heat. About the only way to escape the heat is to stay in the shade. The shade isn't often where people have to work.

The police magistrate at Titusville declares that if women visit saloons like men, get drunk in them and cause the same disturbances they will be treated like men. Well, that's certainly equal rights—or maybe equal punishment.

NOT A CHANCE

"How's about taking a chance on this raffle we're having for a poor, young widow?" said the lodge brother, approaching another member.

"No use," said the other member. "My wife wouldn't let me keep her if I did win."

They tell us times have changed, which is no fairy tale. So we soak the rich and the employed worker alike, draw our allowance and with carefree gesture tell 'em to keep the change.

It is claimed that thousands of wild game are being killed on state roads by automobiles. Not even the hunters can do anything about that.

You can make a safe bet that this country will never abolish free speech simply because a lot of people talk too much.

This sweaty weather reconciles you to age. There's no fun in romance when kisses skid.

Wonder if Willkie prefers that kind of ties, or is it a bit of strategy to win the polka-dote vote?

A Pittsburgh preacher suggested that a two weeks vacation be given prisoners in jail so they could spend the time with their families. No doubt some of the birds are in the coop because they did not stay at home with their families very much.

She came weeping into the domestic relations department.

"No, I haven't any idea why my husband left me," she wailed. "He just packed up and went after my mother, father, two brothers and my sister-in-law came to spend the fall with us."

The inferiority complex may be real, but did you ever see an experienced driver who admitted he wasn't a good one?

"All men are created free and equal." That's the beginning of a great story. Now go on from there.

Party Readjustment Now In Progress
Democrats Make Overtures To Groups
Farm-Labor And Progressives Wooed

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—News that the Roosevelt-Wallace management is making overtures to La-Follette Progressives in Wisconsin and to the Farmer-Laborites in Minnesota leaked out on the same day as the story of the Willkie-McNary management's plan to organize a "Democratic Union" or "Democratic Unity Party" to enable anti-Roosevelt Democrats to vote for Willkie without officially losing their Democratic status.

So far as the coming election's concerned, the idea is to have the Progressives and the Farmer-Laborites' retain, nominally, their respective separate identities, but to cast their ballots for the Roosevelt-Wallace national ticket, in return for Roosevelt-Wallace support of their senatorial representatorial and even more local candidates in Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Equally it's the Willkieites scheme to have anti-New Deal and other anti-third-term Democrats stay Democrats, of a sort, for the present, but to vote Willkie-McNary-ishly, in exchange for tacit assurances that some kind of political gravy will be dished out in their behalf if the Willkie-McNary combination wins in November.

But, if this program goes through what about four year hence? Will we still have distinct New Deal, Progressive, Farmer-Labor, Willkieties and Democratic Union group in the country? Or, by that time, will the New Dealers, Progressives and Farmer-Laborites have coalesced completely? And will the Willkieites and the Democratic Unionists have done likewise, on their part?

Which Will Be Which?

If the answer be in the affirmative, which party will be which?

Will the New Dealers, the Progressives and the Farmer-Laborites all be Democrats? And will Willkieites and the Democratic Unionists both be Republicans?

Echo doesn't answer.

One thing's pretty certain. The New Deal-Progressive-Farmer-Labor combination, by whatever name it may call itself, will be the liberal aggregation. The other chaps will be comparatively conservative as Old Guardsmen used to be. Both sides will be liberal, as those nearly extinct old dodoes would have reckoned, but the first crowd will be, as of the rising generation, leftists, and the second crowd will be, correspondingly, rightists.

The rightists will say that the leftists are not merely liberals, but radicals—in fact, totalitarians.

The leftists will say that the rightists are black reactionaries.

For a long, long time the two old major parties have been trying to sort themselves out into a couple of new major parties that it was possible to distinguish between. Now they appear to be actually at it. While it goes on it's confusing, but some sense may develop out of it ultimately.

Changing Line-Ups

The Roosevelt-Wallace managers stand a fair chance in states where Progressivelsm and the Farmer-Laborites are strong.

Wisconsin has been turning Republican of late, as against the Progressive La Follettes. But if the La Follettes team up with the New Dealers, the alliance perhaps can score over its opposition. And there's no reason why they should not combine. To be sure, Senator "Young Bob" La Follette hasn't been much in sympathy with President Roosevelt's foreign policy, but, domestically, Progressives and New Dealers are Siamese twins, to all intents and purposes. "Young Bob" is hustled hard to be re-elected. It should make him amenable to New Deal influence.

In Minnesota Senator Henrik Shipstead, Farmer-Labor candidate for re-election, can't find any basic reason for disagreement with New Deal policies, and he probably would like some Roosevelt-Wallace aid also

And there are other states where maverick votes are New Dealerishly potentially assimilable. In Nebraska, for instance, Senator George W. Norris, ex-Republican, now a so-called Independent and not yet a re-election candidate, nevertheless is a 100 per cent Rooseveltian.

The Willkieites have a meaner job in effecting consolidations, because the converts they're seeking mostly are southerners, who have that unreasoning prejudice for the Democratic label. Nevertheless party readjustment is in progress.

Just Folks

I GO FISHING

I go fishing, now and then,
Just to get away from men.
When I'm tired of gear and wheel,
Tired of things of iron and steel;
Peddlers selling trivial wares,
Rugs on floors and padded chairs,
I go fishing, just to see
If there's still a soul in me.

I go fishing to obtain
Depth and breadth of mind again;
When I'm tired of brick and stone
And the town's harsh monotone;
When it seems to me that I
Alien am to sea and sky,
I go pushing out from shore
Just to learn to think once more.

I go fishing lake or stream
To find out can still I dream?
Have I let my spirit shrink?
Have I lost the power to think?
Is there naught in sky or sea
To inspire or comfort me?
I go fishing, just to find,
If I still possess a mind.

Conquerors come and go; but when the dust settles, every nation is still loyal to its best customer.

The Possible Hazards

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.

IT seems a strange thing that a way cannot be found in this grave international situation to do what the vast bulk of the people of this country are eager to do—and that is to aid England in the desperate fight she is making for her life against the attacking Nazis. It is even stranger when it is so generally conceded that saving England from destruction probably means saving the United States from having the war brought to this side of the Atlantic Ocean.

A CONQUERED England is as clearly a menace to our own safety as is the fact that an unbeaten England would save us the necessity of turning our own country into an armed camp and be the best possible guarantee of peace. Exceedingly few thoughtful people dispute these things. They are too obvious to permit much argument. Suggestions, such as recently came from Colonel Lindbergh, that we assume the defeat of England—in fact, aid it by putting forth at this time a plan for peace—do not accord with the true sentiment of the American people.

THAT we should contribute to the downfall of a nation whose interests are fundamentally identical with our own—that we should contribute not only by withholding vital material which could be given but also by discussing cooperation with her prospective conqueror before the battle has been decided—that we should do that is a revolting idea which there is reason to believe most Americans will reject. Crediting Colonel Lindbergh with complete sincerity, nevertheless it is doubtful that he understands the full implications of the sort of speech he made Sunday. To adopt the course he suggests would leave most Americans hanging their heads in shame. To do what he wants us to do now—that is, to propose a peace on German terms, which is the only sort of peace now possible—and begin cooperation with the German conqueror, would be equivalent to the kind of stab in the back Italy gave France in the hour of her extremity.

CONTRAST Colonel Lindbergh's advice with the moving words of General Pershing, who, knowing the horrors and hardships of war, is as keen as anyone in the nation to keep war from coming again to America. This end, he pointed out, can be achieved only by keeping the British fleet from falling into hostile hands, and that can be prevented only by saving England from defeat. Solemnly he warns that that beleaguered nation is terribly in need of aid which "short of war", we can supply; that if we supply it without delay it may mean the difference between survival and extinction.

IT IS, he says, in our own interests to furnish this aid. If a proper method can be found to make available some of our "immense reserve" of overage destroyers, left over from the last war, there is no surer way of safeguarding the freedom and security of this country. The most acute need of the British today is for destroyers to convoy merchant ships, escort warships, hunt submarines and repel invasion. We have the destroyers. It is, said General Pershing, our duty to ourselves to supply them—a duty from which Americans "should not shrink because of possible hazards."

Plane Crash Near State College Is Being Investigated

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Aug. 8.—An investigation was begun today into the airplane collapse which resulted in serious injury to Sherman Lutz, 37, civilian instructor at the State College airport.

Lutz narrowly escaped death and a companion, Charles Neyhart, 16, son of Prof. Amos Neyhart, originator of the safe driving school in Pennsylvania, suffered a broken leg and bruises, when the plane which was being taken on its first flight by Lutz crashed on a farm three miles from here.

Lutz, strapped in the plane with a safety belt, suffered a broken left hip, crushed leg, numerous cuts about the head and arms, and other injuries.

Authorities planned to examine the motor and instrument board in an effort to determine the cause of the crash.

St. Joseph's Group Picnic, August 11

A special meeting has been called for the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Joseph's church, for Friday evening, at 8 o'clock, in their club rooms.

At this time, plans will be completed for the second annual picnic for the sodality, which is to be held at Schweikert's camp, on Sunday, August 11.

A committee has been appointed for the event.

INJURED YOUTH NOW IMPROVING

Charles Walters, of 1112 Cunningham avenue, who accidentally wounded himself in the left foot, Monday morning while engaged in target practice in the Lehigh Portland Cement Company quarry on Cascade street has been removed to his home and is getting along as well as possible under the circumstances. The bullet passed completely through his foot.:

Duquesne Youth Is Injured By Plane At Landing Field

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 8—A 15-year-old boy, identified as Andrew Prokop, of Duquesne, was injured seriously Wednesday when he was struck by an incoming plane while bicycling on Bettis Field. He was taken to McKeesport hospital.

James Taylor, an instructor, said he did not see the youth as he landed in the southwest section of the field, an area forbidden to pedestrains and vehicles. The slowly-moving propellor and landing gear were believed to have struck the lad, tossing him several yards from his bike.

The plane spun around as the propellor broke, but did not overturn. Taylor cut all switches to prevent a fire.

Field Artillery In 11th Reunion Sunday

Families Of 323rd Regiment Unit To Frolic At Beaver Falls

Members of the 323rd Light Field Artillery and their families will enjoy their 11th annual "family reunion" at Edgewater park at Beaver Falls, Sunday, August 11.

Attendance awards will be offered hourly, commencing at 2 o'clock. Mushball and races for the young and unannounced surprises will feature. Registration will be handled by Edward C. Ifft, regimental secretary, and ladies of the regiment's auxiliary.

Adjoining states will send large delegations, officers report. Invitations have been mailed to 600 members of the regiment residing in Ontario, Canada.

Head chairman of the day will be George Hartman, Beaver Falls, and William C. Weirgaber, West Bridgewater. Competent sub-committee chairmen are assisting them.

A special board of experts recently submitted to the Navy, a report recommending that the Navy build a 650 foot dirigible, two to four blimps a year for observation purposes and suggestions that huge dirigible plane-carriers might be practicable in the future.

The Great Game Of Politics

THERE is slight doubt that General Pershing thus points the way to action which most Americans would like to see taken. There is no doubt at all that President Roosevelt would like to act along that line. The difficulties, of course, are great. There are the naval experts who say we cannot spare even a rowboat. There are the isolationists who insist that, no matter what the method, to supply destroyers would be an act of war. There are the members of Congress eager to charge evasion of our neutrality laws. And there are others.

NEVERTHELESS, those who look the facts fully in the face know that the course General Pershing advocates is not only the one course by which we can retain our self-respect but actually the course of enlightened selfishness—the surest way of keeping war away from this continent. Perhaps the President will find a way to overcome these obstacles and do what every friend he has knows he wants to do—the obvious thing consistent with his utterances on the international situation and the foreign policy he has laid down. At any rate, he ought not to be deterred, as General Pershing says, by the "possible hazards".

AFTER all, what are the "possible hazards"? Put it on the lowest possible grounds. Suppose Germany does conquer England: is it going to make her any more friendly to us—is it going to render us any more immune from attack—to know that we did not go to the aid of the English because we were afraid of the "possible hazards" than to know that, "short of a war declaration", we did give her all the aid we could? It is absurd to think so. We cannot insure the "friendly cooperation" urged by Colonel Lindbergh by "shrinking from the possible hazards" any more than Holland and Denmark and Belgium insured it by strict preservation of their neutrality. We cannot gain the Nazi friendship by shrinking from the hazards of helping England, but we can earn their complete contempt.

BELLS ON COWS MAY PREVENT DEER FROM MILKING THE COWS

HARRISBURG—Game Protector Fuller H. Coffin of Erie and Crawford counties recommends large bells on cows to keep deer from milking the cows.

His recommendation was contained in the following message to the Game Commission:

"Dairyman sent word that he wanted to see me. Upon calling on him I found that he was having trouble with a deer sucking the milk from one of his cows. This has been going on for some time and he said he first noticed something wrong when the cow's milk supply decreased and that the cow became nervous when he milked her. A neighbor told him he saw a calf sucking the cow, but the farmer didn't have any calves in that pasture. He started doing a little investigating and discovered the deer with the cow. The deer got so bold or tame toward the last that it would come clear up to the barn with the cows at night. I had him tie a large cow bell on the cow to keep the deer away. I haven't been back to observe the results."

There are those people always present in the world who aspire to obtain the reputation of foretelling human events and there are those who are always ready, if some great event has transpired, to call the attention of the people to this or that quotation from the Book of Books,—the Bible of the Hebrew and Christian World and say: "There the event was foretold." "Armageddon" is the favorite quotation whenever a crisis in worlds' events occurs, but there have been many Armageddons and there will probably be many more.

Great poetry whether it be the Book of Job, Shakespeare or Tennyson, is inspired.

MRS. E. TREHARNE HOSTESS TO CLUB

Wednesday evening in the Norwood avenue home of Mrs. Ernest Treharne, members of the N. C. T. club gathered for their regular session.

Bridge featured, high score awards going to Mrs. Albert Flick and Mrs. Sol Davies. Mrs. William Jones was special guest and she received a lovely gift from the hostess. Following the play, a delicious repast was served around a prettily decorated table. Assisting Mrs. Treharne were her daughter Rosetta, Marian Duff and Marvenia Stenger.

On August 14, members will assemble at Cascade park for a 6 o'clock dinner with husbands and families as special guests.

DINNER-PARTY HONORS AUGUST BRIDE-ELECT

Miss Cora Mae Newman, a bride-elect of this month, was again honored on the approach of her marriage Wednesday evening, when a group of her co-workers from the treasurer's office in the Lawrence county court house, gathered in a prominent tearoom on the Butler road, for a surprise dinner-party.

A delicious full course chicken dinner was served on a long table, prettily appointed in the appropriate motif, and centered with fresh cut flowers.

At the conclusion of the meal, the group enjoyed an informal social hour featuring games and contests. Prizes were awarded to Cora Mae Newman, Stella Toman and Regina Norris. Helen Urmson captured the door trophy on this occasion.

Two special guests were present: Ruth Newman, sister of the honoree, and Helen Urmson. A wedding cake with the miniature bride and groom was presented to the bride-elect.

Lovely gifts including a Fostoria Rock crystalware set and pottery were received by Miss Newman as remembrances of the happy occasion. On Saturday, August 17, Miss Newman will become the bride of James Lutton, the ceremony to be performed at the Newman residence on State road.

ORIGIN OF "TWO-BITS"

Recent excavation at George Washington's birthplace, National Monument, Va., of an ancient coin concretely illustrates the origin of the phrase "two bits." The coin was a quarter segment of a spanish coin valued at two reales and minted early in the Eighteenth century. At that time it was common practice to cut large coins in two to make smaller ones. Hence the piece unearthed probably passed for one-half a reale.

State Department Hot Over Cudahy's Remarks

By HAROLD SLATER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8—A complete report on the interview given in London yesterday by Ambassador John Cudahy in which he compared the conduct of American soldiers unfavorably with that of German soldiers has been requested by the state department from Ambassador to Great Britain Joseph P. Kennedy acting secretary of state Welles announced today.

Welles told his press conference that the interview was given without notification to the state department and completely without authorization.

Observers immediately regarded Welles words as a repudiation of what the former envoy to Belgium had said.

No Elaboration

While Welles in the absence of an official report, refused to discuss the incident further, it was learned from other sources that the state department was highly displeased over several assertions that the envoy made to the press.

The department's primary annoyance, it was learned, resulted from Cudahy's remarks about American troops, comparing their behavior in the World War unfavorably with that of the Germans who invaded Belgium in the current conflict.

From a broader viewpoint, however, the entire tone of the Ambassador's remarks about Germany and the situation in Europe ran counter to administration policy.

It was recalled that at the time of the German invasion of Belgium, President Roosevelt sent a personal message of sympathy to King Leopold in which he impliedly denounced the invasion of an unwarrated breach of Belgian neutrality.

Moreover, it was noted, the effect of Cudahy's interview was to create support for sending food to Europe through the British blockade.

The state department has consistently refused to ask Britain to relax its blockade, even for the passage of food ships, although some informal negotiations toward this end have been carried on with the British by President Norman H. Davis, of the American Red Cross.

He Didn't Ask

It is customary for ambassadors before making speeches or issuing quotable statements on matters of high policy, to inform the state department in advance of what they intend to say and give the department the opportunity of veto if these statements do not fit in with administration policy.

While American officials are deeply sympathetic with the food problem of Belgium as pictured by Cudahy, authoritative sources in Washington considered it unlikely that this government will bring pressure on Britain to relax its blockade of the European continent.

Nevertheless, it is thought possible that the Red Cross itself may work out some arrangement directly with the British government to allow food ships, under specified conditions, to carry edibles to Belgium and unoccupied France.

State department officials said that Cudahy was on his way from his post in Brussels to the United States when he decided to stop off in Great Britain on a personal visit.

He is expected to return here soon probably going to Lisbon and taking a trans-Atlantic clipper from there. He still has the official rank of ambassador to Belgium, which makes him responsible to the state department for his official actions and utterances.

Toothbrush In Stomach Baffles Philly Doctors

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8—Philadelphia bronchoscopic experts, who have made this city preeminent in the business of removing anything from buttons to peanuts from the human anatomy, Wednesday were confronted by the baffling problem of what to do about a toothbrush.

The patient is 22-year-old Edna Campbell, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., who swallowed the brush two weeks ago while trying to remove a food particle from her throat. It has lodged in her stomach ever since.

While there are plenty of instruments for removing other foreign objects from lungs, throat and whatnot, a toothbrush presents a "ticklish" job, physicians said. Dr. Gabriel Tucker of the University of Pennsylvania has tackled the job of making a new gadget.

Elm Street Y. W.

There is a very pleasant week in progress at Camp East Brook. Four clubs from the Y are represented in the enrollment. From the Eva Bowles, Thelma Stuart, Dorothy Hall, Bernice Webber, Cora Morgan, Mary Gilmore and Madalene Farrow; Elverda Hallman from the Joy Givers; Arietha Hambrick, Isophene Clark and Hazel Brown from the Senior Girls Reserve, and from the juniors clubs: Ernestine Morrow, Lillian Tilden, Doris Ward, Dorothy Crunkleton, Rowena Watkins, Pansy Brown, Shirley Webber, Inez Robinson, Eleanor Young, Naomi Ward and Mary Ellen Robinson.

The group arrived at camp at about 11 Monday morning and were assigned to their various cabins. After lunch they spent the rest of the day becoming acquainted with and adjusted to camp life. The regular schedule was put into effect Tuesday morning beginning with reveille at 7:30, morning worship at 8:30 and breakfast at 9:00. During the morning the various groups met to form social plans for the day. The afternoon was spent in free activities followed by swimming, under the instruction of Miss Duff and Miss Wilson.

Practically the same procedure will characterize each day. Visitors will be welcome at the camp on Thursday and Sunday.

No Known Legend For Pymatuning's Name

Historians Cannot Find Out How Name Originated, But Know Its Meaning

HARRISBURG—The Indians had a word for it—Pymatuning.

Baffled tourists have been writing the tourists and recreation division of the State Department of Commerce asking how to pronounce "Pymatuning."

"Pie-may-tune-ing" with the accent on the third syllable, is the Indian version of "the crooked-mouthed man's dwelling place." Legend does not tell exactly to whom the name referred.

Pymatuning Lake, 18 miles long and with a 70-mile shore line, is the largest artificial lake within the state. Swimming, boating and fishing are popular here, and picnicing is afforded in the park, which covers 528 acres. There is also a wildlife sanctuary, particularly for waterfowl.

Only 15 miles from Meadville, Pymatuning earns part of its fame from the hitch-hiking ducks which completely ignore the fish by treading on them in their hungry rush when tourists toss food into the water.

Burtons Leave For Vacation Saturday

Church Officers Will Have Charge Of Services During Month Of August

The Rev. Charles J. Burton, pastor of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, and Mrs. Burton will leave at noon on Saturday for a three weeks' vacation, visiting relatives and friends in Walkerton and Dunnville, Ontario, and Buffalo and Niagara Falls, N. Y.

During Mr. Burton's absence, the following church officers will be in charge: Jacob C. Hetrick and Thomas J. Evans, wardens; Arthur G. Owens, Louis P. Dean and Mrs. Emily Ayers, all of whom will know where to reach Mr. Burton in case of death or urgent necessity.

Rev. P. C. Pearson of Trinity church has kindly consented to act, when requested, for St. Andrew's parish.

The services for August will be morning prayer, which will be conducted at 10 a. m. with Lay Readers Jacog C. Hetrick and Thomas J. Evans in charge. No service will be held on Labor Day Sunday.

The Rev. and Mrs. Burton will return home on September 3 in the evening.

Burma Road Open Japanese Claim

(International News Service)

TOKYO, Aug. 8.—War materials are still moving to China over the Burma road despite Britain's agreement to close the famous route to such traffic, a Japanese naval spokesman charged at a press conference today.

"Information is on hand," he declared, "that traffic in war materials is still going on over the Burma road.

"If true, it shows that Britain is not keeping her promise. The situation should be clarified."

The spokesman said that chemicals come under the category of war materials but that traffic in medicines is permissible.

Meanwhile, Emperor Hirohito received Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka for a conference.

Don't Kill Spies; Alive, They May Tell More Facts

Espionage Agents Are Worth More Alive Than Dead To Enemies

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA—Smart government don't shoot spies—they don't even arrest them, according to Major Thomas Coulson, former British intelligence officer.

"The last thing to do with spies is arrest them. They're too valuable," asserted Major Coulson. After you've located them, they're worth infinitely more to you than they ever were to the enemy.

Varied uses can be made of foreign spies once they are discovered, the former espionage expert explained. For example, forged documents can be substituted for information sent by the foreign agent to his country in the belief he is undetected.

"Europe's secret agencies," said Major Coulson, "all agree that the United States intelligence services are probably the best in the world." This goverment, he said, has never admitted losing a vital document—although it doesn't follow that none has even been stolen.

Exploding many hoary theories about spies and their operations, the major disclosed that spies rarely resort to actual sabotage—for example in munitions factories.

"A spy would hardly dream of sabotaging shell production in the Frankford Arsenal in Philadelphia," continued Major Coulson. "He'd try to achieve the same object by fomenting a strike in some typewriter factory, say, that is making fuses for these shells. By blocking production of these, he does as much damage as if he had destroyed a dozen big guns."

Major Coulson, incidentaly, was one of 200 secret agents who trapped Mata Hari, wily German who died before a firing squad. "She wasn't pretty," he remarked. "When I knew here, she was middle-aged and fat."

News Briefs From City Hall

Chief of police Willis G. McMullen is keeping his eyes open for the possible growth and sale of marihuana here. This is the time of year when the narcotic weed grows, it was stated. It is considered one of the most dangerous of narcotics. It is ground and made into cigarettes, known in the underworld as "reefers". No young person, nor elder one, should accept a cigarette from a stranger unless they know positively it does not contain marihuana which is blamed for many brutal crimes.

Bell Telephone company today was granted by council permission to bury a cable at Croton avenue and Vine street and construct an underground conduit 26 feet in length in East Washington street between Hazel street and Temple avenue.

Equipment for playgrounds has been bought by the city at a cost of $212.37. . . . Gasoline and oil bills for the city amounting to approximately $1,352, were ordered paid by council in meeting today. . . . Ice bill, amount $127.68, was authorized paid to the Love Coal company by the city this morning.

It was reported today in council meeting that some businessmen are encroaching upon sidewalks. It was also reported that Saturday one businessman in Long avenue, tied a "billy goat" on the sidewalk and offered it for sale.

A street car became disabled at 4:30 p.m. yesterday on Highland avenue hill. When it backed down the hill, it and an auto driven by W. P. Bach, Stewart place, collided. The car was being towed down the hill on a track other than the one usually used. Bach drove out of Falls street, it was reported. After the street car axle broke, buses operated until 9:30 p.m., Superintendent T. C. Moore stated.

Claude Allen who constructed a building at Delaware and Edgewood avenue and which was reportedly out of conformity to the building code today agreed to do whatever council instructs. It is probable the building will be removed or rebuilt to conform to the city's desire.

Someone broke into the Boyd dairy, Butler avenue last night and stole cigarettes. The dairy was entered recently but nothing was reported missing, according to city police today.

Helen Jackson, small girl, rode a bicycle against the car of F. W. Mullen, Mercer, in Mill, near Sycamore street. She sustained a cut on an ear and a knee bruise. The accident occurred at 1:35 p.m. yesterday.

Pastors To Take Part In Service

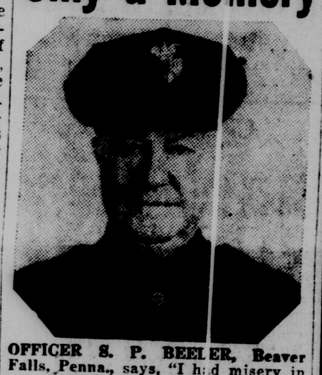
Trinity Episcopal Church To Have Charge Of Cascade Park Service Sunday

While twelve of the pastors of city churches are out of town on their vacations, one is sick, and two churches are without clergymen, the Rev. Phillip C. Pearson, rector of Trinity church, has secured the Rev. Dr. W. V. McLean, pastor of the First Methodist church, the Rev. Rev. A. M. Stump, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, and the Rev. W. A. Thornton, pastor of the Epworth Methodist church to take part in the union out door service at Cascade Park next Sunday at 7:00 p. m.

A special rehearsal of the choir of Trinity church will be held in the Guild room tomorrow evening in preparation for this service.

Agreements between employers and workers in Sweden's paper, wood pulp, sawmill, textile and machine industries assured labor peace in 1940. The agreements covered small wage increases, as well as certain supplementary wages because of higher living costs.

Stomach Upsets Only a Memory



OFFICER S. P. BEELER, Beaver Falls, Penna., says, "I had misery in my stomach almost every day. I'd rift up quantities of gas and hot, sour liquids containing bits of undigested food and had a lump in my throat until Vendol gave the most satisfying relief from constipation, then all these troubles were relieved and I feel grand again."

If you suffer from upset stomach, gas, sourness, belching, "heartburn," so nervous you can't sleep, biliousness, headaches, spots before your eyes, bad complexion, pains in your arms, shoulders, back or limbs and other symptoms when they are due to constipation or need of a mild kidney diuretic, take Vendol and see how quickly this alkaline extract of Roots and Herbs will give relief. All over this state reliable citizens are praising Vendol, so why don't you get this same relief, too?

VENDOL

All druggists here sell Vendol and is highly recommended by Eckerd's of New Castle, 118 E. Washington St.

ENGLISH CHILD LABOR

In England 111 years ago a bill to limit labor of children to 12 hours a day in cotton mills brought this protest: "The bill actually encourages vice—it establishes idleness by act of parliament."

Gold desposits estimated to yield 1,000,000,000 yen have been discovered in deep gorges on the eastern Taiwan (Formosa) coast, and are being exploited to aid hard-pressed Japanese economy.

SENATE ACRIMONY TO HURRY VOTE

to mobilize the national guard for a year's intensive training after acrimonious debate prevented a vote on but one amendment yesterday.

Test Vote

A crucial "test vote" will be made on the Adams amendment to restrict use of national guard to the Continental United States and its territorial possessions.

Administration senators called the proposal an attempt to restrict enforcement of the Monroe Doctrine. They said it would prevent the president from sending the guard to South American countries.

Administration leaders were worried over the strength shown for the Adams amendment but expressed confidence it will be defeated. They cited the defeat, 47 to 36, of the Donaher amendment to permit resignations from the guard within 20 days after mobilization.

Donahey argued the guard-men should be allowed to resign from a year's active duty because "the bill fails to provide adequate economic compensation for those drafted into service." Sen. George (D) Ga., asserted the language of the bill would authorize the president to "engage in an undeclared war on foreign soil."

Opponents of the Adams amendment said presidential authority to use the guard in the western hemisphere is necessary to serve notice to foreign nations that the United States intends to enforce the Monroe Doctrine.

ORIENTAL ELECTRICITY

Many oriental cities have enjoyed the benefits of electricity for years, but electric light is still regarded with awe in most of the smaller Asiatic settlements. An advertisement in a Burma newspaper sings its praises thus: "Burns is strong wind. If placed in public functions, crowds will gather to it."

MANEUVERS START FOR 28TH DIVISION

light machine guns, no new .50 calibre machine guns and no Garand semi-automatic rifles". Colonel Kelley added the regiment also lacked "great quantities of motor vehicles and anti-tank guns".

Painted Guns

Some rifle companies went into action with painted wooden "guns" in place of stipulated 81-mm. mortars—short range trajectory weapons employed agains' enemies located on the opposite side of a hill.

The only two tanks in the Pennsylvania national guard—operated by the 28th tank company of Norristown—were to see service today under command of Captain Furman H. Limeburner. The 103rd engineers from Philadelphia were slated to work out problems peculiar to a combat regiment.

Virtually all the 1300 mounted men in camps of the 22nd cavalry division commanded by Brig. Gen. Edward J. Stackpole, Jr., were on the move yesterday along with many units of the 28th division. The 22nd is encamped in the vicinity of Pyrites, about 30 miles south of Lisbon.

NECESSARY KNIVES

An assortment of knives are kitchen aids and time savers. Have one large slicing or butcher knife, one bread cutter, at least two paring knives, one grapefruit cutter, a broad and narrow spatula. Keep the knives in a rack fastened inside the cupboard door. That will keep the knives both accessible and sharp.

RHEUMATIC PAINS KEPT HIM AWAKE

MR. HADRY McGILL

Mr. Harry McGill, well-known resident of Towanda, Pa., writes that after trying several medicines with little relief, he began taking RUX, which relieves the pains in his left side and leg, so that he is able to work so much more easily. He states, "I want to use this means to tell my friends that I have found more relief from pain with RUX than all of the other remedies which I have tried."

If you suffer from the aching muscles, congestion and feverishness of Rheumatic, Neuritic or Neuralgic Pains try RUX Compound—dependable, no optiates—in a few minutes RUX will begin to be absorbed into the BLOOD Stream where RUX amazing ingredients reach aching, inflamed muscles to give quick relief. 3 economical sizes at all good drug stores. The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1940 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Hitler, Goering, Goebbels and Himmler have made Europe such poor hunting ground for news that foreign correspondents are speeding back in flocks. Their jobs have vanished. The news is still there, but with "Verboten!" spreading bigger and bigger across the continent, it can't be written.

Paris, where once a hundred Number One newspapermen filed meaty reports, has been rubbed out by a censor's stamp. And so have Brussels, Rotterdam, Oslo, Warsaw and Prague, and Vienna! And in Rome, Berlin, Moscow, Bucharest, Ankara, Budapest, Sophia and Athens, the heat is on so that the boldest newshawks dare not write what they know. They couldn't get past the censors if they did.

Only in London, and maybe in Stockholm, are reporters able to go about their business. So the others have packed up. And they can count themselves fortunate that they have a place to go to. There are people in this uptorn world who might be less lucky if they had to get away between some darkness and dawn. Totalitarianism is a tendollar word which fancies-up, but does not change a two-bit phrase once current in a younger America.

On our old frontiers people used to say, "Whole hog or nothing." Right now Hitler and Goering and Goebbels and Himmler are very much in the whole hog business, having about everything their own way. But some of the shrewdest returning correspondents argue that Britain is far from downed, and in the long pull may come out on top. If Britain does win out they are sure that resentments long concealed among Germany's common people will grow into rebellion. So it could happen that Hitler and Goering and Goebbels and Himmler may want to take a cue from the Kaiser and race across the border to a safe haven. But what border offers safety to such as these?

The Kaiser had Holland, and lucky he was. But today's Dutchmen, already muttering behind their long pipes against oppression, will be in no mood to welcome the fathers of that oppression. Norway or Denmark? Danes and Norwegians will scarcely have forgotten the Fifth Column that shamed and enslaved them. They will make poor hosts. And certainly not Poland or Czechoslovakia. A welcome would be waiting, undoubtedly, in either Poland or Czechoslovakia. But what a welcome!

Arresting yarns come across the Atlantic, some brought by homing correspondents, some by other refugees, some by that underground railroad which gladly gives transportation to any rumors unfavorable to dictators. These yarns tell of flight preparations going on in the very midst of world-shaking triumphs. Vast sums of money banked outside Germany's borders—mansions bought, furnished, guarded, waiting, secret airfields where planes are kept loaded with gasoline ready to take off at a moment's notice.

It is the weakness of totalitarianism that such preparations may have been made in vain. Whole hog or nothing is all right, provided you get the front end of the bet, and provided you don't mind being a hog. But the proposition is a gamble at best. Nothing means just that, and might easily mean no landing field anywhere for the finest airplane that the greatest dictator has hidden against Democracy's day of reckoning.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SICKNESS

A friend of mine who lives in a big city told me the other day that a long illness he had earlier this year was one of the best things that ever happened to him.

This man is a fairly important individual whose name you have seen in the papers. He heads a large organization and is counted a valuable citizen in other ways. But he isn't I should say, he wasn't—any more important than he thought he was. I had met him only a couple of times before his illness and I remember thinking that he was a rather pompous individual.

He told me that as he lay there in bed for many weeks, uncertain whether he would ever get up again, he came to realize the world was getting along nicely without him and could continue to do so. He saw the big business of which he was head, still meeting its payrolls and keeping its head above water. He is a rather smart man. Not because of the position he occupies in life, but by reason of the fact that he was able to see all this as he lay in bed and acquire a new viewpoint and sense of values.

He said to me:

"Doctor, I must have been an awful pain in the neck when I thought the world couldn't get along without me".

I have attended many adults who were bed-ridden. Of course they were not captains of industry, but in every case they could have turned their illness to advantage by taking new stock in themselves. I'm not suggesting that we should wait for illness before evaluating our lives and where we are going. But it is a mighty convenient time.

Usually when we are well we are so preoccupied in the hurly-burly of life that we think of little except today and where that next dollar is coming from. Sickness puts us out of the game and on the side lines, so to speak. If the illness is neither too terrible, nor too costly, it may,—yes, it can, do us more good than harm.

There is an old belief that when a person is sick physically he is sick mentally as well. Usually, this isn't the case at all. I have found the majority of people are keener and more sensitve when they are recovering from an illness than they are when they are hale and hearty. Illness often shows a remarkable cleansing power on the mind.

I suppose by the time you have read this far you may say to yourself: "Yes, but I'm no big shot. I know the world and my family would get along as well, perhaps better, without me". Yet sickness can be of help to you, also. I know of actual cases in which a person was frittering away his life until illness made him stop and think. He emerged with new ideas, new resolutions and new hope.

For instance, a close friend of mine, a judge, had a son whom he wanted to study law. The boy was brilliant, but lazy. He drifted along after he was out of college. He always found easy jobs enough to get along. Then he had a motor accident that kept him in bed for weeks. One day he asked for some law books to read. It was a turning point in his life. Two years ago the boy was graduated from law school, a gold medalist, and now I'm confident he is headed for the top in his profession.

What has all this to do with your baby or your children, the usual subject of this column? This: a sickness often is the first time a father who has had a busy life, really gets acquainted with his family. Lying there in bed, he takes the time to talk to his boy or girl, to understand their problems, to enjoy their presence. Usually, he's too busy, too detached, to enjoy a close relationship with them and misses much of the compensation parents receive for bearing children. I have seen the sickness of a father or mother wield loose family ties into strong cords of fellowship and happiness. Sickness can be benficial to the children in other ways: it can give them responsibility and devlop new devotion to their parents.

VON WIEGAND IS BACK IN AMERICA

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 8—Karl H. Von Wiegand, chief foreign correspondent of the Hearst newspapers, returned on the Pan American Dixie Clipper Wednesday after months on the European war front.

Von Wiegand, who was granted an exclusive interview with Adolf Hitler last June and who for 28 years has been the outstanding American correspondent abroad, was one of 23 passengers on the plane when it arrived at La Guardia Field.

Civil War Vet, Ill, Strong For Willkie

Hopes To Hear Acceptance Speech, Vote In Fall For Nominee

Edwin L. Ayres, 93 years old, former sheriff of Lawrence county and a drummer boy in 1861-65 when the Civil war raged, is somewhat improved in the Jameson Memorial hospital. We wears a Willkie button and hopes to be sufficiently well to hear Wendell Willkie's acceptance speech at Elwood, Ind., and to be home and able to vote for the Republican nominee for president in November, he told friends last night.

The ex-sheriff was removed several weeks ago from his Pulaski residence to the Jameson Memorial hospital where he underwent an operation. For a time it was believed he might not recover. However, an indomitable spirit, strong heart and good physique have helped bring him to the point where he now discusses politics, the war in Europe and sports.

The former sheriff enlisted when he was about 16 years of age in the Civil war. After being sent south, his superior officers believed him too small to carry a gun and gave him a drum. After his return from the war he went back to peace time occupations. Although up in years, he often appeared with the Pulaski band. Not so long ago he repaired his own drum and rolled off some '61-65 pieces.

The ex-sheriff is next to the eldest living veteran of the Civil war in Lawrence county.

Motorship Sinking Denied By Officials Of British Company

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Unconfirmed reports in New York shipping circles that the British motorship Accra, 9337 tons, had been sunk off the Irish coast with a heavy loss of life, including many child refugees, were denied here Wednesday by agents for the ocean liner.

Daniel Bacon Co., New York representatives for the Accra, said they had received no reports that the ship had been torpedoed. An official of the company said he "doubted" that the reports were true.

The British shipping board and Mackay radio Marine information both denied that reports of the sinking of the vessel had been received here. Similarly, there was no verification from London.

Would Loan Money To Latin America

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—There can be no security against revolution in Latin America but "it is worth the risk" to lend them money, Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones, told the house banking and currency committee Wednesday.

Jones appeared in behalf of the bill to increase lending facilities of the export-import bank by $500,000,000 to help South American countries dispose of their surpluses.

"What security have we against that pertual threat of revolution and denunciation of all outstanding obligations?" Rep. Luce (R) Mass., asked.

"There is no such security but it's worth the risk," Jones replied. "I can think we can better afford to take that risk than not to take it."

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

A former popular boxing champion is fighting again.

He has been criticized, warned and ridiculed.

But there is no indication that he is damaging his physique.

He has always kept himself in good physical condition.

So much cannot be said for many business men in middle age.

They are not in good physical condition, yet they act silly.

At rare summer picnics they run races and play ball.

They are flabby, out of condition, and should not act up.

Their actions put a terrific strain on heart and body muscles.

The "Fat Men's Race" is the saddest of summer activities.

Sudden strain on muscles seldom extended is damaging.

Offers Anti-Third Term Amendment

Senator Styles Bridges Offers Amendment To Constitution Barring Third Terms

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—A fresh G.O.P. effort for a third term showdown, today turned the clock back to 1928 when the Republicans were fighting an anti-third term resolution aimed at Calvin Coolidge and some of the very Democrats who are now supporting President Roosevelt, were declaring more than two terms for any president was a step "fraught with peril."

When Sen. Stiles Bridges (R) N. H., introduced his proposed anti-third term amendment to the constitution yesterday he was just 12 years too late to win the active support of such outstanding Democrats as Senate Majority Leader Barkley, and Senators Ashurst, Ariz., Pat Harrison, Miss., Pittman, Nev., Sheppard, Tex., Wagner, N. Y., and half a dozen others who still hold office.

For all of these gentlemen—now ardent supporters of a third term for Franklin D. Roosevelt—cast resounding votes for the famed LaFollette resolution, rushed through the senate February 10, 1928 when not a few of them feared that President Coolidge might seek another term in the White House.

After citing the tradition against more than two terms for any president, the resolution forthrightly declared that "any departure from this time-honored custom would be unwise, unpatriotic and fraught with peril to our free institutions."

It was this resolution, introduced by Sen. LaFollette (P) Wis., that Barkley, Harrison, Wagner and the rest helped pass 56 to 26.

Mrs. Elsie Feinstein

Mrs. Elsie Feinstein is pictured in a New York court after hearing her bail set at $25,000 on first degree perjury charges. Police say she is a key figure in the Brooklyn murder syndicate trial. Her claim of not being acquainted with gunmen in the syndicate was smashed when police introduced movies showing her with the men involved.

BEWARE OF DOG-WHIPPER

In Exeter cathedral, England, visitors are shown the "dog-whipper's rooms" just under the Minstrel's gallery. In ancient times the dog-whipper was an important functionary who whipped stray dogs out of the cathedral. His wand of gold is one of the cathedral's valuable relics.

Camp Rentz Closing Next Monday Morning

Rev. Blasdell Preaches At Vespers Sunday Afternoon At 3

Camp Fred L. Rentz of the Y. M. C. A. closes Monday morning, August 12, and not Saturday, General Secretary R. L. Meermans announced today.

Rev. David J. Blasdell, pastor of Mahoning Methodist church, he said, will preach at the 3 o'clock vespers Sunday afternoon.

Wednesday's activities at camp were highlighted by a "flashlight hike" along Plaingrove road. The boys left camp just as it was getting dusk and did not return until it was time to retire for the night. It did not require much coaxing to get the boys to bed as all were tired by their trek along the roadway.

The afternoon was spent in determining the champion scullers of the camp. In the younger boys group Charles Hildebrand captured the high honors and in the older group Tony Paige emerged victorious. Morning mushball results showed that the Wizzards could play as they walked off with the game over the Flies. This throws the league into a three-way tie.

Thursday will find the start of the second round of the schedule and as a highlight of the afternoon the boys will indulge in a treasure hunt.

According to an old travel book, the first tourists were Moses, Abraham, Jonah, Ulysses, Plata, Strabo, Cleopatra, the queen of Sheba, Marc Antony, Julius Caesar, Daedalus, Herodotus, Aeneas of Troy, and Alexander the Great.

Pioneer Unit At Scout Camp Active

Activities Program Well Under Way At Camp Kiondashawa Is Report

(Special To The News)

CAMP KIONDASHAWA, Aug. 8.—New Castle Girl Scout Camp Kiondashawa, near Transfer, Pa., is now all settled and the activities program has been launched.

The Pioneer Unit is one of the more active groups in camp, and everyone has been playing and working hard, a routine which creates huge appetites. Monday, all of the tents were pitched for rain, luckily, too, for it rained Monday evening.

Tuesday the girls began to fix up the unit by improving the fireplaces, digging drains, building tables, etc. The girls are also working on gay camperchiefs. Regular schedule of eating out twice a day has been inaugurated by the Pioneer Unit.

Lights were late going out Wednesday night because a new tent arrived just at bed time. The tent was to take care of crowded conditions. It was set up and the girls moved in immediately.

Many comic episodes and campers' pranks have been added to the camp fun. The girls in the Little Unit are working like experienced campers. Swimming and lifesaving classes are well organized. Monday night there was a large campfire with lots of singing, getting acquainted and story telling.

Third Ward County Committeemen Meet

An organization meeting for the county committee members of the Third Ward was held in the office of Alderman O. H. P. Green, East Washington street, August 6.

Martha Bigley served as temporary chairman until the following officers were elected: chairman Walter DeArment, vice chairman Walter McGee and secretary, Lawrence Quehl.

Every committeeman was present at this first session, and another meeting has been planned for August 20, at which time plans for the fall will be discussed.

Scout Pageant At Fair Friday

Expect 1,000 Boys To Take Part In Mass Demonstration In Afternoon

At 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon 1,000 Boy Scouts attired in uniform will answer an assembly call to the grandstand arena at the New Castle Fair Grounds, and the greatest mass demonstration of Scouting ever attempted here will be on.

Every troop in the district will have a part in the big program, and each will depict some phase of Scout work or activity. In the center of the arena one troop will construct a tower in 13 minutes. At the same time, on each side of the center act, nine other troops will be presenting other phases of Scouting.

Nothing of its kind has ever been tried in the New Castle area before and members of the general committee are working hard under the leadership of T. D. Jones, chairman.

Everybody connected with the Lawrence County Boy Scout Council will take part in the grand entry, marching around the arena track to the designated demonstration plots, at the programs start.

NEW COACH FOR MERCER HIGH SCHOOL

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 9.—Mercer's Board of Education last night named Herbert Speigelmeyer, Dubois as coach of athletics at the local high school and Miss Betty Buchanan, a local girl as teacher of the seventh and eighth grades.

Speigelmeyer succeeds William Crowell, who resigned to accept a position at Sharon high school. Miss Buchanan was named for a one-year term to fill the vacancy caused by granting a leave of absence to Mrs. Esther Watson Tetrich. Speigelmeyer is a graduate of Susquehanna university and acted as assistant coach there for one year.

The new Junkers Ju-88 with 4,400 pounds of load, reportedly turned in a speed of 321 miles an hour on a 625-mile run and 311 miles an hour for 1,250 miles. The gross weight of the plane is reported to be around 17,000 pounds.

It is sometimes easy to forget the dates of anniversaries in one's life, or one's family, but it is easy for Judge W. Walter Braham to remember the birthday of his daughter Isabella, and the date of his entry into the legal profession, as both anniversaries occur on the same date, August 7. Judge Braham was admitted to the bar on August 7, 1922, and yesterday marked the 12th anniversary of Isabella's birth.

Arguments were heard by Judge W. Walter Braham Wednesday on the petition of the administrator in the estate of Silas Wike, of Little Beaver township, to join with the son, for permission to apply to Federal court to stay a sheriff's sale, under the provisions of the Fraser-Lemke Act, which permits stays on sheriff's sales of farm mortgages. The main proceeding must be in the Federal court, and the proceeding before the local court is an ancillary one, as to whether the administrator can join in the action before Federal court. The deceased Silas Wike and his son John were joint owners of a piece of real estate.

An opinion was handed down Tuesday by Judge W. Walter Braham in the petition brought by Laura Hines to permit probate of a lost will in the estate of Thomas Stone, deceased.

It was the contention of the petitioner that the deceased who lived with the petitioner for a period of years until committed to Dixmont, had left a will bequeathing her the estate. On the death of the deceased, no will could be found, but a copy of what was purported to be the last will and testament was found, certified by the late Judge William E. Porter. Mr. Stone was unable to read or write, and did during his lifetime, it is believed, execute a will.

The opinion refusing permission to probate the copy of the lost will was refused by the court on the grounds that no proof was produced of the execution of the alleged lost will or its contests, and that if a will were actually executed by the testator, it is presumed to have been revoked during his lifetime.

The rush of taxpayers to pay their county taxes ended on August 1, and County Treasurer Earl R. Wimer is now busy getting caught up on the paper work of his office.

Up to August 1, taxpayers were given a five per cent discount. During August, county taxes are payable at face, and on September 1, a five per cent penalty, is added. On January 1, 1941 interest is added to the delinquent taxes at the rate of one-half of one per cent per month for each month unpaid.

Testimony in the divorce proceedings brought by Vilena Elizabeth English against Thomas English, charging desertion were heard by Judge W. Walter Braham, Tuesday, and a decision will be handed down later by the court.

Conference Manager To Preach Sunday In Rural Churches

First of the vacation supplies at the East Brook and Neshannock U. P. churches will be Rev. Robert Ralston, this year's New Wilmington Missionary Conference manager. Mr. Ralston graduated in May from Pittsburgh-Xenia Seminary and after the conference, plans to take a regular charge.

He will preach in both churches Sunday, at Neshannock at 9:45 a. m. and East Brook at 11 o'clock. There will be no services in either church on August 18, but on August 25, Rev. J. H. McCormick, retired minister, will preach.

Rev. Robert Douglass, pastor of the churches, expects to resume his duties the first of September.

Dingledy Names More Chest Drive Aides

Vandling Heads Transportation Division, Staudinger Mercantile

Heads of the transportation and mercantile division for the 1940 Community Chest drive in October were named today by Paul G. Dingledy, campaign chairman.

J. S. Vandling, superintendent of the Erie & Ashtabula division of the Pennsylvania railroad, has accepted the transportation division chairmanship, while J. W. Studinger, head of The New Castle Store, accepted the mercantile division leadership.

Both men are prominent in civic affairs. Vandling, a comparative newcomer, is a member of the Chest board of directors and is a Rotarian. Staudinger is active in the affairs of the Lions club.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS
Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste
If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

"Sky Pilot" Combines Planes With Gospel

Dan McNally, Here For Series Of Evangelistic Meetings Is A Licensed Flier

America's No. 1 flying evangelist, Dan McNally, of Baltimore, Md., is appearing nightly at the Calvary Gospel Tabernacle, on the East Side.

Coming here from Johnstown, Pa. Tuesday, this modern sky pilot landed his new Piper Cub Cruiser at the New Castle Airport, where it is being hangared for his two week visit in the city.

McNally, who was here on a previous visit and flew both with Findley C. Wilson and W. H. Ice at the New Castle Airport, began his flying career in January of this year.

To date he has some 70 hours to his credit and holds a government Private license in addition to a 2-S government rating. In his own airplane, McNally is now averaging about two hours of flying time daily and is looking anxiously ahead to the Commericial license mark.

He told a News man today that he hopes to secure a Commercial "ticket" in about three months and then continue flying to obtain both an instructor's rating and an instrument rating.

By use of this modern instruments of transportaion McNally finds it possible to "hop" from one city to another in less time and thus combines his hobby with his career. McNally's ship is a three-place job and easily accommodates his wife and little three year old daughter who accompany him on all his aerial jaunts.

McNally had nothing but the highest praise for the local airport but stated that he believed that such a fine field should be equipped with suitable lighting equipment.

Enroute here from Johnstown this flying evangelist encountered a bit of trouble when he became lost near the city while seeking the port.

He followed the Wilmington road, by mistake, and after cruising about for nearly two hours without finding the airport, found it necessary to seek some type of landing field to get gasoline. He landed on an Amish farm near New Wilmington and secured gas at a nearby service station.

ROB MERCER HOME DURING VACATION

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 8.—Returning from a two-week eastern trip, a Mercer woman and her daughter discovered that thieves had ransacked their home and taken jewelry and other articles valued at $500.

Mrs. Daisy T. Morse and Miss Margaret Morse, Venango street, Mercer, reported to police that four gold watches, three bracelets, a diamond ring and an aquamarine ring were among the missing articles.

Because it resembled previous burglaries in Mercer, Police Chief L. L. Ringer said the theft probably was the work of local persons.

Will Test Sanity Of Accused Youth

Sister Tells Conflicting Story Of How Child's Death Occurred

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 8.—Harry Swogger, 15, and his sister Iola, 11, held for investigation as result of the death of three-year-old Lillian Swogger, their niece on Sunday, will be handled under the provisions of the juvenile delinquent act which is different than the regular proceedure in this much that formal arraingments are not prescribed. Juveniles are those under 16 years of age.

At the present time Harry is held in jail and Iola is at the Childrens Home here. Further investigation is taking place. The girl tells conflicting stories of how the tot met her fate when she was given a water injection. The boy says they were playing doctor; the girl says he was responsible because he was enraged at not being taken for the Sunday ride.

District Attorney Edwin C. Moon stated today that he will ask a lunacy commission appointment of Judge George Rowley on the return of the jurist.

Dauphine Wins Straight Heats

Takes Three Heats In First Division Of 2:24 Trot At Fair Track

RICK'S LADY MERLIN SECOND IN THIRD HEAT

Although there are not many kings left nowadays, the Sport of Kings featured at the New Castle fair track Wednesday where Dauphine, a sorrel mare by Guy Abbey waged a totalitarian campaign and captured three heats in the second division of the 2:24 trot, her best time being 2:14 in the third heat. She was extended by Lady Merlin, a black mare by Protector driven by Joe Rick. Maher reined the sorrel mare. Three other races were staged. One thousand persons saw opening events. There'll be a trio of events this afternoon and the pace mark for local track may fall. A saddle horse show will be staged Friday afternoon.

Although the second division of the 2:24 trot was not one of the fastest event on the card the last heat was a thrilling neck and neck finish on the home sketch. At the half, clocked in 1:09 3-4, Elsie S. Dean was a second and Lady Merlin, third, Rick gave Lady Merlin her head at the three quarter post and displaced Elsie S. Dean. Coming down the home stretch, Lady Merlin gave all she had but this was not sufficient to out-head C. M. Provost's mare. In previous heats, Dauphine beat out Silver Kernel and Elsie Dean with stamina and speed to spare.

Judge Jett, a bay gelding by Supreme Justice, owned and driven by Harry Eyler, took the first and last heats of the first division in the 2:24 trot and Yankee Boy won the second heat. The best time 2:14 was in the first heat. He trotted the quarter in 134, half in 1:08 and three quarters in 1:41 1-4 in that heat or race (each heat being a race) Hanan was half a body behind with Yankee Boy, third. Yankee boy Nichols in the buggy, won the second heat in 2:14 1-2 winning on the home stretch from Hanan who led to the three quarter pole, the time to that post being 1:40 3-4.

With only three quarters in the

The other two league games scheduled for tonight are—St. Joseph's playing the Slovaks at the Clifton Flats field and the Moose club going to Ryantown.

PULASKI DEFEATED; HILLS TOPS BOARD

Nashua Snaps Pulaski 11 Game Streak; South Hills In First Place

City-County Independent Baseball league rivals uncorked more thrills as they stepped closer to the finish tape Wednesday evening.

Since it is only natural that all good things must come to an end, it was fitting for Pulaski's 11-game winning streak to be snapped. Nashua dumped the National league leaders 6-5 at Pulaski.

In kayoing Pulaski, Nashua defeated Gentile, one of the loop's standout twirlers. Sniezek and J. Ratvasky provided the clubbing, each connecting for doubles. Pulaski failed to get an extra-base blow.

Nashua ..... 420 00—6	8	2
Pulaski ..... 032 00—5	5	7

Batteries—Nashua, P. Braho and Neal; Pulaski, Gentile, Patton and Hutchison.

Umpires—Gentile and Dubrasky.

HILLS TOPS BOARD

In the most crucial setto of the evening, the South Hills sluggers eradicated the South Side Board of Trade nine 4-1, thus grabbing the American league lead.

The Slabtowners immediately shot in a protest, claiming that a South Hills runner deliberately blocked a play, causing the South Side shortstop to muff a grounder which would have retired the side had the play been completed.

WEST SIDERS WIN

Rallying in the fifth chapter, the West Side A. C. romped off Lee avenue field with a 6-3 victory over Harbor.

Harbor got off to a good start, scoring three times in the fifth inning. The West Siders tied the count in the fourth. Bechtol slashed out a timely triple for the winners. Thomas contributed a double to the West Side cause. Schaas and McGarry dropped two baggers for the losers.

Preston Johnston, crack S M U. halfback, who appears in the Pitt Stadium this fall, had quite a record as a sophomore last year. He was fourth in conference scoring, third in rushing, and third in punting. He led the famous Kimbrough of Texas A. & M. in rushing.

Sports World Ramblings

Loose sports notes: Whitlow Wyatt, of the faltering Brooks, waited nine long years before becoming a 10-game winner in the big show. The flinger reached the double figure last week. . . . Johnny Mize has clouted 14 of his 31 homers on the road, this year. Up to yesterday, (Wednesday) the slugging Cardinal first sacker had yet to lay one out of the Pittsburgh orchard. . . .

On the billiard table, Spud Chandler, of the Yanks, ranks as tops among major leaguers. . . . George Selkirk, Yankees' left fielder, was, of all things, a professional wrestler before coming up to the big show! . . . Paul Derringer, Cincinnati tosser, has won 20 or more games three times during his major league career. . . .

George Stainback, veteran outfielder purchased by the Tigers from Montreal, clipped the apple at a .327 mark for 93 tiffs up to the time he left the International circuit. . . . Briggs Stadium, home of Detroit club, was opened to fans at the start of the 1938 season. The Bengals formerly used Navin Field.

George Case, Washington Senator ball-o-fire, has pilfered 20 bases. He still has a long way to go if he expects to top Honus Wagner's mark of 61 in 1907. . . . Bump Hadley, Yankee pitcher, played football at Mercersburg and Brown. . . . Oral Hildebrand, who was tossed in the discard by the Yanks recently, hits and throws right handed but autographs baseballs with his left!

Should Billy Conn whip Bob Pastor decisively and thereby earned a shot at Joe Louis, the heavyweight championship go may be staged in the Pitt Stadium . . . In 1938 and in 1939, Joe Louis copped all of his bouts by kayoes . . . Paul Christman, Missouri's pigskin pitching star, won't be bothered with tonsilitis any more. . . .

Roscoe Guidera, Sacramento niblick swinger, claims honors for odd holes in one. On successive Sundays, Guidera hit tee shots into golf bags more than 150 yards away while shooting for the greens of par three holes! . . . A survey by the Saturday Evening Post revealed that 72% of the people who play games, play cards, with bridge far in the lead with 58% poker addicts number only 4%.

Hear Protests On Friday Night

The board of commissioners of the City Baseball league will meet in the office of City Controller Sid Lockley at 7:30 o'clock on Friday night to hear the first of two recently filed protests. All interested parties are asked to be present, however this is not an open meeting and no players will be admitted.

The two protests to be heard are St. Josephs vs Moose club at Lehigh field the night of July 22, and Lawrence Indies vs Red Sox at Washington high field on the night of August 1.

The following make up the board of commissioners: Chairman Charles "Bugs" Walther, Sid Lockley, Hub Hart, Bill Semler and Kenny Lutz.

According to veteran critics at the ringside, the Henry Armstrong who beat Lew Jenkins in six rounds was only half the fighter he was two years ago.

Greece was the first of the ancient nations to make sports contests, as running, a part of the fete day programs.

B. T. W. TEAM DEFEAT I. W. O.

The Booker T. Washington softball team won a Class B game last night at B. T. W. field from the I. W. O. team 10 to 0. Lindale Walls on the hill for the colored boys almost entered the local softball Hall of Fame, by pitching a great one-hit game. He had two of the B. T. W. hits. Friday the B. T. W. team plays the strong Cyclops team of Warren, Ohio, here.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
I. W. O. .....000 000 000—	0	1	0
B. T. W. .....430 200 10x—10	14	2

FANNINS WIN GAME

The Fannins of the Class B league went to Ellwood City last night and defeated the Matthews Conveyor team 13 to 10 with Johns the winning hurler, and Prestia the loser. Heavy hitting was done by Herbert of the Matthews team with a homer with three men on in the seventh and doubles being hit by—Strausbaugh (2), Lamorella, Christopher for the Fans and Mahr for the losers. Tonight the Fans meet the Troggios in a league game.

Utility League Games Tonight

National Pants Team, League Leaders, Water Company In Second Place

There are four Utility league games scheduled for tonight, it was announced today by Charles Usselton acting for Howard "Bridegroom" Warnock, who is honeymooning. The games will start at 6 o'clock. Only three of the games will count in the standing as the Bell-X team is merely filling in the byes on each league night.

The National Pants team leads the league second half with five wins and one defeat, while the New Castle Water Company team has four wins and two defeats and are runnersup.

Penn Power Merchandisers vs. Gilfillans—Centennial Field.

National Pants vs. Bell Bakers—Dean Park.

(Emery Field near the New Castle Airport will be used by the league, it was secured by the Engineering Works team.)

Elders-Lisbon Set For Battle

Manager Joe O'Leary of the Elders will have a strong team on the field Saturday when the Lisbon, O., semi-pro team plays at Lockley Field at 3 o'clock. The Elders will no doubt be strengthened in a few spots.

Lisbon will bring the strongest team that has appeared here this year. Dory Gunnett and Mickey Huff are members of the Lisbon team. The Ohioans are highly rated having won 24 and lost but one this year, and that was to the Erie Sailors, in a twin bill.

Elders field will be a mecca for the fans Saturday if the weatherman provides a nice day.

Baxter Trains Here Tonight

Local Welterweight Hopes To Be Unmarred, Win Monday Night

Russell Baxter, local 147 pounder, who clashes with Georgie Osman of Monaca in one of the bouts in the air-cooled Arena, Monday night, will work out with Frankie Moran and Billy Reale in the Jefferson A. C. tonight. After a hard work-out again Friday, he will eliminate boxing from his training because of the likelihood of injuring a hand. He wants to win and therefore desires to go into the ring unmarred.

The bouts are sponsored by the Neshannock township firemen who wish to secure equipment for fighting blazes.

In all eight bouts will be staged and the battles include some of the best amateur battlers in this section.

A feature of the show is that most of the visitors will be showing their stuff here for the first time.

Boudreau Hits Two Home Runs

Drives In Six Runs As Indians Defeat White Sox To Stay In Tight Race For Top

By ED KIELY
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Manager Oscar Vitt of the Cleveland Indians has called Lou Boudreau the best shortstop in major league baseball, and today the Tribe's pilot had added evidence to support his opinion.

For the kid shortstop up from Buffalo of the International League batted in six runs yesterday as the Indians beat the Chicago White Sox, 9 to 3, and kept the pace a half game behind the Detroit Tigers in the American League race.

Rookie Smacks Ball

Boudreau accomplished all the damage with three hits off Johnny Rigney, two of them home runs. His homer in the first came with the bases empty, but his four-bagger in the seventh accounted for three tallies. Then to top off his day's work, Lou smashed a single to send in two ninth-inning runs.

Boudreau, who with Buffalo teammate Ray Mack at second base, gives the Indians a keystone defense and offense superior to any in the majors, is a recent graduate of the University of Illinois and did not enter professional baseball until 1938.

Tigers Trip Browns

Detroit retained its small margin of leadership mainly on the strength of a five-run rally in the third that brought a 7 to 5 victory over the St. Louis Browns. Pitcher Johnny Gorsica, who wasn't around at the finish, started the rally with a single and Birdie Tebbetts' three-run double supplied the major punch.

After losing their fifth straight, 10 to 7, in the first game of a twin bill with the Boston Red Sox, the fading New York Yankees finally won the nightcap, 6 to 3, with a three-run rally in the ninth.

Boston made 16 hits in winning the opener, Bobby Doerr and Manager Joe Cronin slamming homers as did Joe DiMaggio for the Yanks. Cronin and Jim Tabor hit home runs for Boston in the second tilt.

Philadelphia at Washington was rained out.

Over in the National League, Cincinnati stumbled at the head of the pack, losing to the Chicago Cubs in the 10th inning, 5 to 3, when Claude Passeau, following Bill Lee and Ken Raffensberger to the mound, with one in, one out and bases loaded, got two men to end the game. The Cubs made three in their half of the 10th, Paul Derringer was the loser and Lee the victor.

Dodgers Top Giants

An after-dark record throng of 53,907 turned out at the Polo Grounds for Capt. Melvin Ott night to watch the Brooklyn Dodgers runaway with the New York Giants, 8 to 4. Ott was presented with a chest of silver and a set of golf clubs.

Pittsburgh's Pirates stretched their victory string to seven and went over the .500 mark for the first time since early April by whipping the St. Louis Cardinals, 10 to 9 and 12 to 6 in a double-header. Spud Davis' pinch single won for the Pirates after they had lost an eight-run lead in the opener. Johnny Mize walloped his 32nd homer in vain. A nine-run outburst in the third sewed up the nightcap.

The last-place Phillies took their accustomed shellacking, 6 to 3, from the next to last place Boston Bees in a night game.

HOT TOPS WIN FROM MEDUSA

New Castle Hot Tops kept their pace yesterday, downing the Wampum Medusa 11 to 10 in a Lawrence County Baseball league game at New Galilee. Medusa rallied in the first of the last frame but fell short one run of tying the Hot Tops' score. Marshall hit a triple. Allen and D. Dicianno allowed Medusa 11 hits while another Dicianno, Herbert and Powell permitted the Hot Tops nine hits.

DAUPHINE WINS STRAIGHT HEATS

third heat of the second division, 2:24 trot, Judge Jett, Hanan and Cleo Hanover. Judge Jett trailed Hanan to the quarter in 34 1-4 seconds but the at the half in 1:07 3-4 Judge Jett had his nose out in front of Hanan, a bay gelding by Fulworthy. Judge Jett was yet in front at the three quarters in 1:41 but on the home stretch demonstrated he had plenty left and won in 2:15 with Hanan second and Cleo Hanover, third.

2:12 Trot Heats Split

The 2:16 pace found the second heat being paced in 2:09 1-2. It went to Rhythm, a bay gelding, also by Guy Abbey, and driven by Myers. Clyde Henley pushed Rhythm hard on the back stretch with Mickey G making a game fight to out-pace Clyde Henley. At the half, the winner was clocked in 1:05 1-4.

They had finished in the same order in the first heat but in the third with Dan Patch Scott, bay sorrel by Flying Scott, Cummins, handling the ribbons, things were different. Mickie G, Clyde Henley and Rhythm were one-two-three at the three quarters but up came Dan Patch Scott from the rear and on the home stretch came pacing down the last quarter in 32 seconds to win, with Mickey G second and Clyde Henley, third. Rhythm landed fourth place in the last heat. The time 2:11.

The 2:12 trot was split by Volo Aubrey, bay gelding by Red Aubrey in 2:10 3-4, Pastmaster, a bay gelding by Volomite in 2:10 3-4 and Cordy Bancroft, another bay gelding by Guy Mae in 2:12. They were driven by Eyler, Myers and Cummins,, respectively.

In the first heat Deep Run Patsy, a black mare driven by Joe Rick gave Volo Aubrey a nice race but the winner had too much stamina. After leading to the three quarters pole in the second heat, Calumet Dixon passed Deep Run Patsy. Pastmaster unloosed a burst of speed and stamina and won coming down to the wire, in 2:10 3-4.

In the third heat of the 2:12 trot the field passed the half way mark in 1:05 1-2 with Cordy Bancraft in front. Deep Run Patsy second. Pastmaster broke, passed Pastmaster, Calumet Dixon then over-hauled Deep Run Patsy to force Cordy Bancroft. The last quarter was trotted in 32 1-2 seconds and the time 2:12.

The pace and trot marks yet stand. However, Maxine's pace mark of 2:06 1-4 and Joel's record of 2:08 for the trot may fall this afternoon, the closing of the trots and paces. The races calendared are a 2:10 pace, 2:18 trot, and 2:22 pace, with the first heat getting the word at 1:30 p. m. The Saddle horse show Friday will begin at one p. m. Seventy five horses from the tri-state district are entered.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESSERALL

Tonight the Order of Builders number one will hold an ice cream social on the plaza of The Cathedral. A large crowd is expected to attend . . . ice cream, cake and all the trimmings that go with a social plus music which will be accordion band and they will play from seven until eleven . . . drop around and see the boys any time tonight.

A certain resident of New Castle went shopping for a small flag the other day . . . in one store he could not buy a flag that was made in the United States . . . but he was not one to be put aside . . . he went to another place of business and bought one that was made in the United States . . . he hopes that other people will do the same.

* * *

All city officials closed their offices yesterday in order that they might attend the Greater New Castle Fair . . . we are wondering just how many office holders, clerks and what have you attended the fair? We hope they all went because after all when a half holiday is given they should use it for the purpose intended.

* * *

Boy oh boy, have we been enjoying corn on the cob . . . but it would be much better if a little rain would settle . . . not too much, but just a little to keep things green. Fall is just around the corner and it seems only last week that we were complaining about ice and snow.

* * *

Do you drive a car? If so, then maybe you can tell who the courteous drivers are. We say the highway patrol. If you are about to enter a busy street and a line of cars happens to be coming . . . a line that lasts for five minutes or so, just how many of these cars slow down and let you enter the line. The only ones we have found so far are the drivers of State Highway Patrol. It seems that those who know the laws of the state thoroughly practice real driving . . . while those who think they know the law don't give a damn for anyone else. We are proud of our men who make up the Highway Patrol . . . and you should be to. Don't get sore at them if they catch you breaking the law . . . that's what they are for.

* * *

Those who wish may obtain an autographed photograph of Robert Sterling by writting his studio at Hollywood . . . Sterling's picture is now showing at The Victor . . . and most everyone agrees is going up the ladder to fame.

Stock Market Range Narrow

Trading Is Again At Low Level, U. S. Steel Steadies After First Hour

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The stock market slipped somewhat furtner today, but trading was again at extremely low levels as in preceding sessions.

The steel shares were narrow. Bethlehem and National were down fractionally. U. S. Steel steadied after a dip in the first hour.

Motor shares ruled around the previous close. Studebaker was an opening active spot, starting with 1,300 shares, but it quited down later.

There was a better tone in oil shares, reflecting somewhat reports production in the Illinois field was on the downgrade. Standard of New Jersey and Texas Corp. rose fractionally.

Copper shares were under scattered pressure on the price reduction announced by major producers yesterday, but declines were small. American Smelting showed resistance.

American Can was one of the new issues to break out of the rut, rising more than a point.

The chemicals were dull. Rail shares were mixed. Utilities were inclined to sag, with Electric Power & Light common a heavy post. Mail orders were firm.

Cotton was a strong commodity, rising 80 cents a bale. Sugar futures hit a new low. Grains were irregular.

Bonds were trendless, with dealings very small. The London stock market was firm. Free sterling broke more than 4 cents in foreign exchanges.

Mary Louise Potter Married In Chapel

Rev. W. E. Minteer Performs Single Ring Ceremony At Westminster College

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 8.—The marriage of Miss Mary Louise Potter and F. Arthur Canning took place this morning in the Westminster college chapel from which school both are graduates.

Rev. W. E. Minteer, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, officiated at the 10:45 ceremony which took place before an altar banked with gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, F. E. Potter, the bride wore a lovely floor length white jersey dress, with a finger-tip veil, and carried lillies.

Misses Martha and Esther Potter were their sister's bridesmaids and only attendants. They wore aqua taffeta dresses and carried colonial bouquets of tailisman roses.

Donald Canning, of Camden, New Jersey, was his brother's best man, and ushering was Calvin Jolly of Wilkensburg.

Before proceeding with the single ring ceremony, organist, Ruth Sewell of New Wilmington, played favorite pieces of the bride and bridegroom which were: "Intermezzo" from Cavalier Rusticana, Liebestraum, and a portion of the Fifth symphony by Tchaicawsky. Soloist for the wedding was Betty Mason of West Middlesex who sang "Ave Maria," Schubert and "Ich Liebe Dich," Grieg.

Following the ceremony a luncheon was served in the United Presbyterian church rooms in Ellwood City for the bridal party, their families and out-of-town friends of the bride and bridegroom. The Hannah P. McDonald class of the church served as aids at the luncheon.

The bride's mother was attired for the occasion in black and white with matching accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Canning will honeymoon at Woodstock, N. Y. after which they will make their home at 4758 Noble street, Bellaire, Ohio.

Both the bride and bridegroom are musical. Mrs. Canning, the former Mary Louise Potter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Potter, Line avenue, is a graduate in public school music from Westminster college, 1940 and of Lincoln high school in 1936. Mr. Canning is the son of Fred V. Canning, Youngstown. He is an accomplished violinist having graduated from the Ernest Williams School of Music, New York City and from Westminster college, 1939. Mr. Canning is at the present time a teacher in the Bellaire, Ohio, high school.

Amelio Scoccia Last Rites Held

Large Crowd Mourns His Death At Funeral Services Held Wednesday

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 8—A large crowd of mourning friends and relatives attended the last rites for Amelio Scoccia, 19, at the Italian Christian church yesterday afternoon. Many, shocked at the suddenness of his death caused when he stepped into a hole far beyond his depth at a popular lake Erie beach where he was picnicking with his family, also visited the W. D. Porter funeral home late Tuesday evening.

Following the short services at the funeral home, Rev. Salvadore Bellicano conducted the funeral at the Italian Christian church, 8th street. Large numbers of flowers filled the church. The remains were then taken to the Locust Grove cemetery for burial.

Friends of Amelio served as pallbearers. They were: Fred Venturi, Dlaudino Ialongo, Dominick Cusato, Rocco and Guy Prestia and Lewis Sianato. At the church service two quartet numbers, "Does Jesus Care" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and a duet were sung. Members of the first quartet were: Margaret Venturi, Rose Carona, Mary Cusato and Anna Safia; the second, Margaret Venturi, Lewis Sianato, Dominic Cusato and Josephine Cusato; the duet, Helen and Angeline Yargo, of New Castle.

Amelio is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aristide Scoccia and a brother Arno, residents of Fairview avenue. The youth graduated with honors from the local high school with the May class of 1939 ranking 12th in a class of 219 and had achieved an enviable scholastic record at Geneva college.

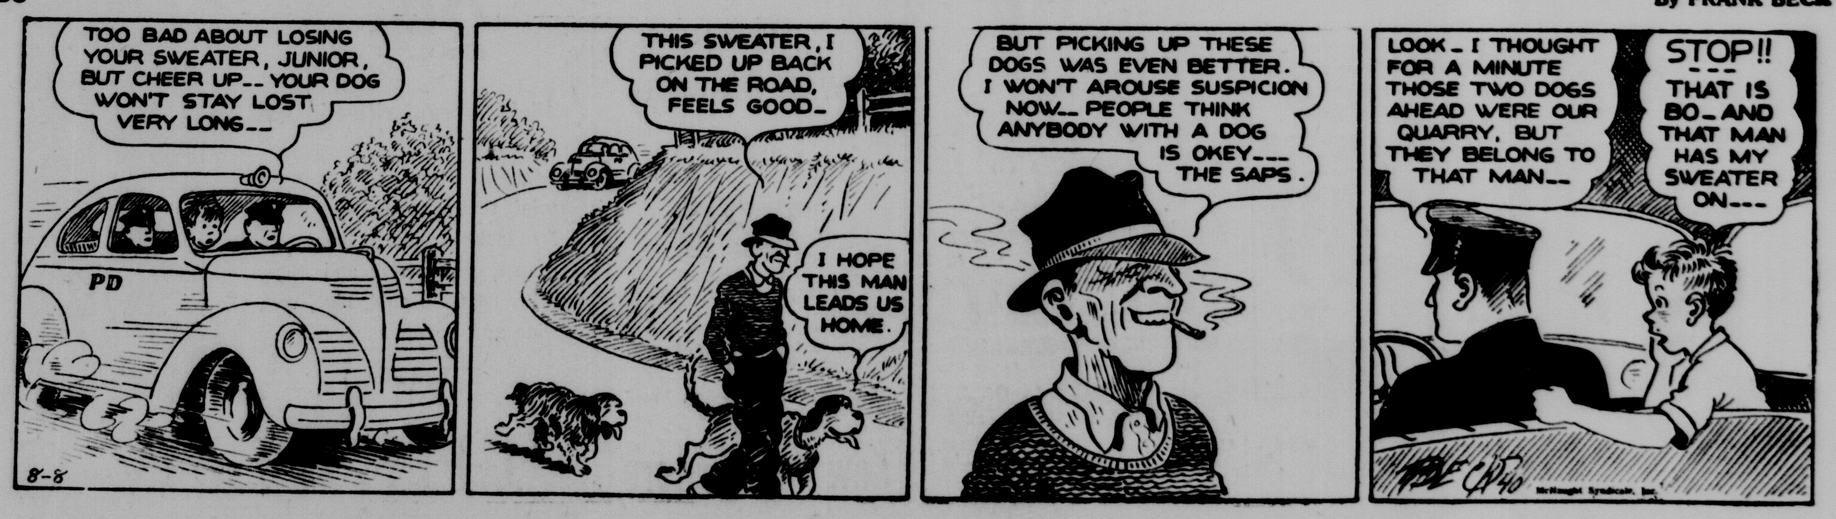
During Rev. Burton's absence the following church officers will be in charge: Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Jenkins, M. G. Murrey, James Thornberry, Mrs. Catherine Charles and William Kegel. All will know where to reach Rev. Burton in case of death or urgent necessity.

Rev. T. C. Pearson, Trinity church New Castle, will serve when requested.

Services during August have been discontinued but will be resumed in September.

The Burtons will return home the evening of September 3.

Love makes the world go round, but it takes money to square it.



SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Four Local Young People In Program At Park On Friday

Vocal And Instrumental Numbers Will Feature Concert Friday

Through the efforts of Paul D. Weller, music committee chairman for the Seventh Ward Civic club, four local young people will take part in the public concert scheduled for Friday evening at the Liberty street park, South Liberty street.

The concert program will feature the music of Ben Shulansky and his WPA Civic orchestra, and will begin at 8 o'clock. The program is being sponsored by the Civic club.

Miss Lorraine Evans will be featured in two vocal numbers, "South Of The Border" and "Oh, Johnny, Oh." John Pappiano will again take part and will present an accordion number.

Ben Roman, North Cedar street, and Raymond Melchiorre of Wayne street, will present a number of trumpet duets during the concert.

SERVICES SHORTENED

The short summer church service schedule adopted last Sunday at the Mahoning Methodist church will be continued this week, it was learned today. A unified church and Sunday schol program is being used to avoid keeping members of the congregation indoors during the intense hot weather.

MEETING TONIGHT

Members of the Triangle Missionary society of the Madison Avenue Christian church will meet at the Ringer home, West Clayton street, tonight. This is a change from the originally scheduled time for the meeting.

Church Sodality Plans For Hike

Reports For Recent Picnic Were Made At Monthly Meeting Held Wednesday Evening

Plans were discussed for a hike to the stone quarry, to be held by members of the Immaculate Conception of St. Lucy's church, on Thursday, August 22.

These plans were made on Wednesday evening when the group gathered in their meeting rooms at the church. Favorable reports on the picnic held recently at a beach on the Slippery Rock, was given by the chairman of the event, Rose DeGennaro.

Following an informal social hour the social committee with Mary Hope Domenick as chairlady, served dainty refreshments to the girls. Assisting the chairlady was Elvira Thomas, Angeline Lostracco, and Elizabeth Orlando.

On September 4, the Sodality will meet again, in their club rooms.

LEAVE NEWS NOTES

Any person having news items intended for insertion in the Seventh Ward column should leave them at Solomon's News Stand, North Liberty street, where a representative of The News will collect them.

BEREAN CLASS AT HUNT RESIDENCE

There were 45 members of the Berean class of the Madison Avenue Christian church, and several special guests, present at the annual picnic outing, held Tuesday evening. The event was at the home of Mrs. Stewart Hunt, Harlansburg road.

Regular business meeting was dispensed with for this time. A delicious chicken dinner menu was served by Mrs. Hunt on the lawn about her home.

Mrs. Stewart was aided by the following committee: Mrs. J. B. Bumbaugh, Mrs. Paul Ringer, Mrs. George Davidson and Mrs. W. I. McCartney.

Next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, September 3.

NEWS BRIEFS IN WARD DISTRICT

Several houses on North Liberty street are now undergoing the process of painting. Extensive repairs both interior and exterior are also under way on many district homes.

* * *

Within a short time meetings of Mahoningtown Boy Scout Troop 4 will be resumed, it was learned today. As soon as possible the gymnasium of the Mahoning school building will be used for meetings.

* * *

Baseball fans of the district have been going to nearby cities to witness big league ball games during the past few weeks.

SPECIAL MEETING FOR BEAVER PATROL

There will be a special meeting of the Beaver Patrol of Mahoningtown Boy Scout Troop 4, tonight at 7 o'clock.

The meeting will be held in the home of the patrol leader Phillip DeAngelis, West Madison avenue.

Scribe, William Weitz, Jr.

BRIDGE ON FIRE

Seventh Ward firemen were called to the East Cherry street bridge about 2:10 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to extinguish a fire on the structure. Insulation about some water pipes on the bridge had caught on fire.

INJURES HEAD

While working in his store Alfred M. Hyde, North Cedar street, sustained an injured head when he raised up striking a pair of scissors that were hanging on the wall. He received a cut just below the hairline on his forehead.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Florence Kraus, North Liberty street, has been discharged from the New Castle hospital.

Howard Calvert, 15½ East Cherry street, has returned to his home from the New Castle hospital.

John Purdy, West Cherry street, has been admitted to the Jameson Memorial hospital, for treatment.

Clara Cemione, West Wabash avenue, has returned to her home from the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Patsy Perretta, 228 South Liberty street, has returned home after being discharged from the New Castle hospital.

Jack La Rue Sent To Canal Zone Job

Former Local World War Veteran To Supervise Painting Contract There

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 8.—Jack La Rue, former New Castle man now employed by the Federal Government, sails from New York for the Panama Canal Zone today to serve as painter foreman.

Mr. La Rue was formerly associated with the Pearsall company. Some months ago he accepted a Government painting post in Washington. Last week he was notified he had been transferred temporarily to the Canal Zone.

It is not at this time known how long La Rue will be in the Canal Zone. His stay will be governed by the amount of work to be done. La Rue is a World War veteran.

RELATIVE DIES AT WEST SUNBURY

Albert L. Whitacre, of East New Castle, has received word that Thomas Ditner, of West Sunbury, aged 73, died Wednesday. Mr. Ditner was an uncle of Mrs. Whitacre, who has been caring for him about eight weeks. He was well known here. The funeral will take place 2:00 o'clock, Friday, from the home.

GETS POSITION AT HARRISBURG

Secretary of Revenue William J. Hamilton, Jr., today announced new appointments and dismissals in his department, which included the appointment of Emmylou Hoover, of New Wilmington, to be hearing stenographer at a salary of $1,380.

FINDLEY TOWNSHIP SCHOOL WILL HAVE REUNION AUGUST 21

The third annual reunion of the Crill, White Oak Knot and Mt. Nebo schools in Findley Township, Mercer county, will have their third annual reunion, on Wednesday, August 21, at noon, at the Community Park in Grove City, Pa.

All former pupils and teachers are urged to attend, and are requested to bring their table service.
